Chief Cummings Called "Infamous Liar" by Lee At Fire Board Meeting

Councilman's Attack on the City Official Follows the Chief's Charge That Lee Was "Framing Up a Job" to Make Captain Clowe Fire Inspector.

FIRE INSPECTOR OTIS DISCHARGED BY BOARD AFTER WARM SESSION

Mayor Wanted Him Fired From Force, But Firemasters Decide to Retain Him in Some Other Capacity. Members Clash Over the Nutting Ordinance.

An atmosphere of peace and quiet hung over Atlanta's fire headquarters on Alabama street, Friday afternoon. Stalwart fire laddies lounged and dozed downstairs in the warmth spread by the big heaters, while engine steeds munched complacently at their hay.

Upstairs the board of firemasters were holding its regular session, and the scene was quite different from the one downstairs. Mayor James G. Woodward and his friends on the board were "stirring things up" and taking a whack at everything and everybody.

Councilman Jesse B. Lee, of the fifth ward, and Fire Chief W. B. Cummings occupied the center of the stage of action when the chief charged the fifth ward councilman with "framing up a job to make Captain W. H. Clowe fire inspector," and the councilman retaliated by telling the fire chief that he was an "infamous liar."

Board Discharges Otis.

When the tempest subsided—without the formality of apology from either belligerent—the board resumed the regular order of business and proceeded to discharge Fire Inspector H. W. Otis and put some one else in the cozy $1,200 a year berth. The first order of things was carried out, to-wit: the board dismissed Inspector Otis by adopting a resolution declaring his place vacant and authorizing Chief Cummings to place the former inspector in some position less conspicuous, also less remunerative.

With the above part of the program carried out, Councilman Lee made a motion that the board go into "exclusive executive session" for the purpose of electing some one to fill the fire inspector's job, whereupon Fire Chief Cummings informed the board that under the Nutting ordinance he would be required to nominate a man to the vacancy, and thereupon every member of the board, including Mayor Woodward, decided to take a hand.

Councilman Lee didn't even blush when he told the board what he thought of the Nutting ordinance, and he furthermore said that the ordinance was in conflict with the state constitution, and therefore he regarded it as unconstitutional. He said that he had consulted lawyers as to the legality of the Nutting ordinance, and was informed that it wouldn't have a peg to stand on in the supreme court.

Asks for Postponement.

However, the board seemed willing to allow Chief Cummings make his nomination, but the chief explained that the position required a man possessed of more than ordinary qualifications, and he suggested that the board defer action until the next regular meeting, and Councilman Reynolds joined the chief.

"The committee has thoroughly investigated Inspector Otis," said Councilman Lee, "and has made a report declaring the place vacant, and I see no reason why the vacancy should not be filled immediately."

Chief Cummings at this juncture made the statement that he knew that two members of the board had "framed up a job to make Captain Clowe" fire inspector. The chief further explained that he was prepared to meet the frame-up by fortifying himself with an opinion from the city attorney to the effect that the Nutting ordinance was legal and valid, and that no person could be elected by a board without being first nominated by the head of the department.

The statement brought Councilman Lee to an upright position in his chair.

"Since the chief has charged that two members of the board were in the frame-up I would like to have him name the two," he suggested.

"I second the motion," shouted Councilman Dallas.

Chief Accuses Lee.

To which the chief replied that Councilman Lee was one of the "frame-uppers," and he went further and explained that Councilman Lee had sent for Captain Clowe and had offered him the inspector's job.

"That's an infamous lie," shouted Councilman Lee.

"You mean to call me a liar?" asked the chief.

"Yes—"

Alderman Armistead, chairman of the board, banged the table and finally restored order by telling the belligerents that they would have to respect the board.

Councilman Reynolds urged the board not to take action in the matter of appointing a successor to Inspector Otis, and it was finally decided to give the chief until Thursday afternoon of next week to select some one for the place The board will meet at 4 o'clock on that day and the scene will be shifted from fire headquarters to the mayor's office.

The fire board has been moving to demote Inspector Otis, and around fire headquarters it was expected that the ax would fall sooner or later. It is said that Mayor Woodward started the move against the fire inspector and would have separated him from his job weeks ago had it not been for Councilman Frank Reynolds and the

INTEREST GROWS IN BOND CAMPAIGN

Council Committee Will Meet Next Monday Afternoon to Decide on Size of the Issue.

Labor organizations, civic bodies and other associations interested in the improvement of the public school system of Atlanta are today showing more interest in the proposed issue of municipal bonds for schools and other improvements than any other project launched in Atlanta in years.

The action of the Atlanta Federation of Trades in passing resolutions indorsing The Constitution's campaign in the interest of the school system and approving a bond issue regardless of whether it is $3,600,000 or $4,100,000, following closely upon the unqualified indorsement given the project by the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association, has had the effect of giving the advocates and the committees at work on the bond issue project the greatest encouragement since the campaign was launched.

Ward Clubs Approve.

Other influential organizations of Atlanta, including ward improvement clubs and parent organizations, have practically approved the bond issue and many are waiting for the committee of council to decide the amount before entering actively into the movement.

The bond issue committee of council, of which Alderman John S. Candler is chairman, will meet Monday afternoon to determine the amount of the entire issue of bonds.

The committee has already gone thoroughly into the matter of advisability of issuing bonds at this period of the year, and it is the almost unanimous opinion of the committee that the city will not experience any difficulty in finding a market for the bonds.

Financiers say that the wealth of Atlanta—the borrowing margin of the city amounting to more than $7,000,000—will be a factor which will aid in the advantageous sale of the bonds when they are marketed.

Laboring men declare that there has never been a more opportune time than the present for the issuance of municipal bonds, providing immediate plans are put into execution to make it certain that work will be started on the construction of buildings within the next six months. Labor and material for the erection of schools and other structures, such as sewers and streets, are cheaper now than at any other time in years. Mechanics who get more than the regular scale of wages in times of plenty outside Atlanta will be glad to get work at home at regular wages.

Will Start Sewer Work.

The city has already made preparations for starting an era of construction work on sewers which will give employment to more than 600 men, and will, in the next three months, turn approximately $90,000 from the city treasury into the pockets of laborers alone, and approximately $60,000 into the pockets of dealers who have materials to sell the city for constructing sewers and other work.

Captain R. M. Clayton, chief of the construction department, figures that with the $151,000 passed up by council and the aldermanic board on Thursday, part of which represents unexpended bond balances and part of which will be taken from the tax receipts, will keep a small army of men at work until March or April. By the time the money is spent the voters will have been given an opportunity to vote on the bond issue, and if the bonds are passed by the people there will be no necessity for stopping the work which can be proceeded with for two or three years.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT SHOT DOWN ON CAMPUS

Bethany, W. Va., December 11.—Rev. Dr. Thomas E. Cramblet, aged 52, president of Bethany college, was shot and seriously wounded by Howard Woods, aged 30, on the college campus today. Standing behind a tree, Woods, it is charged, fired the contents of a double-barreled shotgun at Dr. Cramblet. Woods was jailed. The shooting is said to have followed a dispute over work done by Woods.

Slain Officers Buried With Little Ceremony

GERMAN OFFICER GOING TO HIS GRAVE.

German soldiers who are killed in battle are buried with no ceremony and but little ceremony is paid to officers who fall. They are not buried in trenches as the privates are, but are placed in separate graves and a military escort accompanies the bodies to their last resting places.

Onslaughts of Germans Repulsed by Russians In Desperate Battles

Three of Five Austro-German Columns Converging on Warsaw Receive Decided Checks, According to Official Report From Petrograd.

AUSTRIANS DEFEATED AND 25,000 CAPTURED BY FORCES OF SERVIA

Both French and Germans Claim Successes in West. Kaiser's Men Driven From Trench They Had Taken From the French.

London, December 11.—Of the five Austro-German columns which for some days appeared to be making steady progress in their invasion of Poland three have suffered checks, according to tonight's official report from Russian headquarters.

The column making a downward stroke from Mlawa, on the East Prussian frontier, reported in one dispatch from Petrograd today to be within fifteen miles of Warsaw, was repulsed after an energetic offensive and under counter attacks from the Russians was compelled to retire at some points.

The attacks of the main German column, which had its front on the line between Lodz and Lowicz and which came down diagonally from Thorn, were delivered with great force, but, according to the Russian account, were repulsed with heavy losses to the invaders. That the Germans attached great importance to the success of their attack here is shown by the fact that during the two days they faced the Russian trenches seven times and were driven back by a murderous fire.

The other column which has suffered is that composed of German and Austrian troops, which had been trying to outflank the Russian left south of Cracow. In this case the Russians assumed the offensive and they claim that after a tenacious resistance they defeated the Germans, taking several guns and 2,000 prisoners.

Of the German column operating in the region of Piotrkow and that advancing from Czenstochowa there is no news except the Russian statement that "on other parts of the front there have been no substantial changes."

RUSS REINFORCEMENTS ARE RUSHED TO SCENE.

A check or repulse of any one of the columns, however, in the opinion of military critics, must affect the whole German plan, which was a formidable converging movement aiming at the capture of Warsaw and the relief of Cracow. For this purpose large reinforcements were sent from the west and operations were pushed with great resolution against a determined opposition. It probably will take some days to determine, however, whether the checks have upset this plan. The Germans attach the utmost importance, it is said, to winning a decisive victory in the east before the Russians can make their numbers, which military men believe must already be superior, so overwhelming that the better means

VICTIM OF TRAIN IN UNION STATION CALLED SUICIDE

Custin D. Harrison Crawled Under Coach of Georgia Accommodation, Says Assistant Station Master.

SUICIDE THEORY DENIED BY DEAD MAN'S RELATIVE

Had No Financial or Family Cares to Drive Him to Death, Says Thomas Harper, a Brother-in-Law.

Custin D. Harrison, 45 years old, a dairyman of South Atlanta, was killed in the union station beneath the wheels of the mixed coach of the Georgia accommodation train, No. 12, last evening at 6 o'clock. The train was slowly pulling from the shed on track 4 toward the entrance, at Central avenue, when the deceased was crushed to death.

"I consider Harrison's death a case of suicide," said Assistant Station Master W. B. Calhoun. "I was leaning out from the rear steps of the coach beneath which he was killed. I noticed him draw near the slowly-moving train. Noticing him bending forward as though about to crawl underneath, I shouted a warning at the top of my voice.

Did Not Heed Warning.

"Harrison, however, gave no heed, but threw himself flat across the track so near the trucks that the wheels hit his body before I could reach the bell rope. In my excitement I gave such a vigorous jerk to the rope that it broke. A trainman inside signalled Engineer C. C. McDermon, who immediately stopped the engine, but not till Harrison's mangled body had been carried by the car trucks near to the Central avenue crossing. J. V. Jones, the conductor; J. D. West and myself rushed to Harrison, who had never made an outery, and took his body from the trucks."

Thomas E. Harper, a brother-in-law of the deceased, who lives on the Jonesboro road, vigorously denied the theory of suicide advanced by the railroad officials. "Harrison was a man of the most genial disposition," he said, "and was also a total abstainer from liquor. He had been closely associated with me in our dairy business for about three years, and I know that he had no financial or family cares or any other incentive which would drive him to take his life. He left home only a few moments before his death to transact a little business in town. The statement of the railroad men that he committed suicide is utterly without foundation and absolutely absurd."

Was Deputy Warden.

Previous to establishing a dairy business with T. E. Harper, Harrison was employed for ten years at the federal prison, where he was deputy warden for two years. He was a member of the South Bend Methodist church. He is survived by his wife and two children, Anna Lucile, 15 years old, and Dan, 10 years old; one brother, Preston Harrison, of Atlanta; two sisters, Mrs. Kate Martin, of Crawford, Ga., and Mrs. Ruth Brown, of College Park.

The body was taken to the undertaking chapel of Harry G. Poole to await funeral arrangements.

MOB IN LOUISIANA LYNCHES 2 NEGROES, CAPTURES ANOTHER

Shreveport, La., December 11.—Watkins Lewis, a negro, was removed from the parish jail here tonight by a mob. He was placed in an automobile and driven rapidly away. It is believed that he will be lynched.

Shreveport, La., December 11.—Charles Washington and Breard Henderson, negroes, who last night killed and robbed Cyrus Hotchkin, white, near Mooringsport, La., and were brought here, were lynched this afternoon about five miles from Shreveport while being transferred to Mansfield, La., for safe-keeping.

They were hanged to a tree near the roadway by a mob of about fifty men.

According to the police who arrested Washington and Henderson here last night, the negroes confessed that they killed Hotchkin, an oil field employee, for the purpose of robbery.

Hotchkin came to Mooringsport recently. His mother lives in Chiloquin, Ore.

S. B. COUSINS ELECTED HEAD OF BESSIE TIFT

Macon, Ga., December 11.—Rev. Solon B. Cousins, pastor of the Baptist church at Waynesboro, Ga., was elected president of Bessie Tift college, of Forsyth, at a meeting of the board of trustees here tonight. Rev. Mr. Cousins is a graduate of Mercer university.

It was stated by members of the board that he would accept the presidency. He will succeed Dr. C. H. S. Jackson, who resigned recently. The board first elected Dr. John D. Mell, of Athens, to the place, but Dr. Mell declined to accept.

Rev. Mr. Cousins has had a chair at Mercer and Locust Grove institute.

PACIFIC UNGUARDED, SAYS SEC. DANIELS

Thinks, However, Atlantic Fleet Could Be Rushed Through Canal in Time. Trouble Over Airships.

Washington, December 11.—Although the Pacific coast is not adequately protected for war, the Atlantic fleet could be rushed through the Panama canal while any hostile fleet would be delayed by the necessity of reducing Manila and Honolulu, in the opinion of Secretary Daniels, who continued his testimony today before the house naval affairs committee. In the course of an all-day examination the secretary also discussed the difficulties of constructing satisfactory airships and submarines, but expressed opposition to "extravagant appropriations" for either of these branches of the service. He predicted that ultimately the government must build its own warships in navy yards.

While Mr. Daniels was before the committee the question of military preparedness was again under discussion on the floor of congress. Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, declared in a speech in the senate that there was too much publicity of military secrets. He pointed to the secrecy observed by the nations now at war as an object lesson.

Warships on Pacific Coast.

Secretary Daniels frankly told the committee that there were no dreadnaughts or first-class battleships on the Pacific coast. The only battleship there, he said, was the Oregon, a 20-year-old vessel. The active naval strength on the Pacific he gave as nine cruisers, two gunboats, one transport, one torpedo flotilla, five torpedo boat destroyers, three submarines and one tender. The reserve fleet, he added, comprised five armored cruisers, four torpedo boat destroyers and two submarines.

"Do you think these vessels are adequate protection to the Pacific coast for war?" asked Representative Stephens, of California.

"No," replied the secretary.

"You would not commission the Oregon as a first-class battleship would you?"

"No."

"You wouldn't consider the Pacific coast in any way provided sufficiently for protection in so far as the naval arm of the government is concerned?"

"I would not put it that strong. If

WARSHIP HOLDS UP STEAMER AT NIGHT TO ASK FOR 'BACCY

New York, December 11.—It was 3 o'clock in the morning and the steamer Ausonia, from Liverpool for New York, seemed to have the entire ocean to herself when a dazzling beam of light suddenly shot across her decks and the dim outline of a British man-of-war loomed out of the shadows.

"Got any smoking tobacco?" came from the warship.

The reply was in the affirmative. Cigarettes and tobacco were placed in a water-tight receptacle and passed over the side. A boat from the warship picked them up. Soon the voice in the darkness bellowed its thanks, the warship steamed away and the Ausonia continued her voyage, reaching here today.

BULLETS STILL FLYING OVER MEXICAN BORDER

U. S. Cavalryman and Mexican Woman Shot in American Town.

Naco, Ariz., December 11.—Fighting between the Mexican factions around the border town of Naco, Sonora, continued today unchecked by the arrival of three batteries of United States artillery from Fort Bliss. Bullets flew over the border while the troops were going into camp. One United States cavalryman was wounded, a bullet went through a stove pipe in an officer's tent and a Mexican woman was shot while in her home in the American town.

The two wounded today brought total casualties on the American side to fifty-one during the two months' siege of Naco, Sonora, by Governor Maytorena.

No order has been received from Provisional President Gutierrez, of Mexico, for Maytorena to cease firing to avoid a clash with the American troops, it was said here tonight. That such an order had been given was reported.

One soldier in General Hill's garrison defending Naco was wounded today, it was reported.

TRUCE OVER CHRISTMAS IS DECLINED BY RUSSIA

Berlin, December 11.—(By Wireless.) Pope Benedict's proposal for a truce among the warring nations during the Christmas holidays has been declined by Russia, according to the German official press bureau.

The German bureau previously announced that Germany was willing to agree to a Christmas truce if the other nations assented.

REFUSES TO NAME MAN WHO CUT HIM

Young Man Believed to Be H. G. Walden Is in Grady Hospital Suffering From Two Wounds.

Refusing to tell who attacked him, to give his own name or any information at all regarding his case, a young man about 24 years old is lying in a serious condition at Grady hospital from a knife wound under his heart and another across the left side of his throat.

The police say, however, that his name is H. G. Walden, and that he was cut by Jack Dyer, of Cartersville, who has not been caught as yet.

Walden stumbled into the back door of a barber shop at 19 South Forsyth street late Friday afternoon so weak from his wounds that he fell to the floor. The Grady ambulance was called, but when it arrived Walden refused to go to the hospital. A woman, whom the police say was the landlady of his boarding house, came into the place and left him up the street, but a policeman forced the young man into a cab and sent him to the Grady.

Officers Haslet and Gantt went immediately to the barber shop and began an investigation. The officers say that Dyer slapped a negro behind the shop and that Walden resented it, this starting the difficulty.

SAMUEL INMAN MUCH IMPROVED LATE LAST NIGHT

Friends of Samuel M. Inman were encouraged last night over the news that he has greatly improved since noon yesterday, and they are hopeful and confident that he will shortly recover from the illness which has confined him to his home several days.

Mr. Inman, according to information given out at his home, No. 552 Peachtree street, late Friday night, suffered from a rather severe attack of tonsolitis, which was aggravated and complicated by an irritating cold, all of which has caused his confinement to his home.

Members of Mr. Inman's family and his close personal friends do not believe him to be in immediate danger.

CABINET COUNCIL HELD IN PARIS PALACE AGAIN

Paris, December 11.—A cabinet council was held at the Palace of the Elysee today, the first to meet there since September 3, on which date the government left for Bordeaux. There was the utmost cheerfulness at today's session, a singular contrast to the intense anxiety shown at the last meeting in Paris.

The war department alone remains at Bordeaux and there is no intention now to move it back to Paris. It is considered essential that the machinery of the national defense suffer no suspension, however slight.

This Wild Woman Is a Man, Banjo Spieler Tells Police

By Britt Craig.

Can a man be a wild woman?

Chief Beavers and Ed Arthur say yes, so long as he can make a living at it.

They base their opinion on Telca, the ravenous maiden on whose fair name the breath of scandal has fallen.

Edward Arthur is the arbiter of amusements in Atlanta. If he thinks an amusement is unfit for Atlanta pleasure lovers, he says so, and the police department proceeds at once to eliminate the objectionable amusement.

Introducing Telca.

To introduce Telca the job must be left to her (?) keeper, Pete Gonzales, ex-cowpuncher, captor of the ravenous Telca and reformed showman. Here are his exact words at last night's exhibition of Telca in the world museum of freaks at Pryor and Decatur streets:

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, you will

C. F. von HERRMANN, Section Director.

THE CONSTITUTION HAS FULL SERVICE OF ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR MORNING PUBLICATION DAILY AND SUNDAY

of transportation possessed by the Germans will be discounted.

The Servian victory over the Austrians appears fully confirmed by the occupation of Ushitza and Valjevo. The Servians have regained most of their territory toward the Bosnian frontier, and they also have defeated the Austrians advancing from the north.

25,000 PRISONERS TAKEN BY SERVIA.

Up to December 8 the Servians had captured about 25,000 prisoners, 115 guns of all kinds and great quantities of war material. The Servians claim victory was due entirely to brilliant leadership and the morale of their troops, most of whom were veterans fighting in their third war. These qualities, they say, overcame the greater numbers the Austrians had on their side.

In the west, both the French and the Germans claim they have made progress in the Argonne region and in Flanders. It is evident the Germans, in an effort to stop the allies' advance in Flanders, attempted an offensive in the vicinity of Ypres and took one trench from the French. The latest French official communication says this trench was recaptured. Elsewhere along the front there have been artillery duels with occasional infantry attacks by first one side and then the other.

Vice Admiral Sturdee reports to the admiralty that the British suffered a remarkably small loss in the naval engagement off the Falkland islands. Only seven men were killed and four wounded, according to his report.

This indicates, officials believe, that the Germans were completely outranged and possibly not more than one shot reached the British ships.

Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, replying to a cablegram of congratulations from Japan regarding the naval victory, shows that Japanese and Australian ships are co-operating in the Pacific and declares that the defeat of Admiral von Spee completes the expulsion of Germans from the east.

GERMANS ARE CHECKED, SAYS RUSS STATEMENT.

Petrograd, December 11.—The following statement from the general staff from the Russian commander-in-chief was issued tonight:

"In the direction of Mlawa the Germans on December 10 kept up a strong offensive through the day and night, but we succeeded in repulsing them. Our troops, themselves taking offensive, gave chase to the German columns, which, in some places, retreated in disorder.

"In the region to the north of Lowicz the enemy made some fierce attacks on the night of December 9-10 and throughout the whole of the following day. We repulsed these attacks and inflicted enormous losses on the Germans.

"We repelled, in all, seven attacks, during which some of our units permitted the enemy to approach very near and then put them to flight with a murderous fire.

"In the region to the south of Cracow on December 10 we were still continuing our offensive with success, in spite of the stubborn resistance offered by the Germans.

"We captured several guns and mitrailleuses and as many as 2,000 prisoners.

"There has been no important change on the remainder of the front."

CAPTURED TRENCHES RETAKEN BY FRENCH.

Paris, December 11.—(10:40 p. m.)—The French official communication, issued tonight, says:

"In the region of Ypres a very violent German attack has been repulsed.

"In that same region those of our trenches which were reported in the official communication of 3 o'clock this afternoon as having been taken by the Germans, have been recaptured by us.

"Upon the rest of the front there is nothing important to report."

The official statement given out in Paris this afternoon says the enemy yesterday was active in the vicinity of Ypres. Three of his attacks were repulsed, but one of the important French trenches was reached by the forces of Emperor William. Nevertheless French troops continue to make progress in the direction of the enemy's lines, according to the official report.

Artillery engagements are reported in the region of Arras and in the Vosges, as well as in the vicinity of Varonnes and on the heights of the Meuse. In the Argonne the French advanced several of their trenches.

The text of the communication follows:

"The enemy yesterday showed a certain activity in the region of Ypres. He directed several attacks against our lines, three of which were completely repulsed. At one single point on the front the Germans succeeded in reaching one of our first line trenches. On our side we continued to make progress in the direction of the enemy's lines.

"In the region of the Arras and in the vicinity of Juvincourt there have been artillery engagements.

"In the Argonne we have pushed forward several of our trenches, and driven back two German attacks.

"In the region of Varennes we have consolidated our gains of the preceding days. The German artillery has been very active, but we suffered no losses. A similar condition has existed on the heights of the Meuse. In the forest of Le Pretre our progress has been continued and has developed.

"To the south of Thann we have occupied the railroad station of Aspach.

"Along the remainder of the front in the Vosges there have been artillery engagements."

ADVANCE IN FLANDERS CLAIMED BY GERMANS.

Berlin, December 11.—(By Wireless to London.)—In the official communication issued today by the German army headquarters staff, the Germans claim to have made progress on both sides of the Argonne forest and in Flanders, and to have repulsed French attacks in the Woevre region.

The text of the official statement is as follows:

"We have made progress in Flanders. To the east and to the west of the Argonne (in France) the enemy's artillery positions were attacked with good results. French attacks in the Forest of Le Pretre and to the west of Pont-a-Mousson, were repulsed.

"There is no change in the situation to the west of the Mazurian lakes (East Prussia).

"Our attacks in Northern Poland are progressing.

"No news is at hand from Southern Poland.

FOUR AUSTRIAN CORPS SHATTERED BY SERVIANS

22,000 Prisoners Are Reported Captured by the Victorious Serbs.

London, December 11.—A Daily Mail dispatch from Kraguyevatz, Servia, says:

"The Austrian debacle is now an established fact. The Servians drove a wedge into the center of the Austrian forces, shattering four army corps, which are in flight. The mass of prisoners and captured material is so great that it cannot be tabulated.

"The Servians are pushing the pursuit vigorously and successfully. Roads in the rear of the Servian army are blocked with incoming prisoners, who appear satisfied their ordeal is over. Entire battalions are seen marching under guard of a handful of Servians, while many groups of prisoners come in unattended."

A Reuter dispatch from Nish gives additional details of the recent overwhelming victory over the Austrians claimed by the Servians in northwest Servia.

"The pursuit of the enemy is proceeding along the whole line," says the statement, "especially on our left and center.""

The statement reviews the fighting from December 3 to 7, inclusive, estimates the total number of prisoners at upwards of 22,000 and enumerates an immense assortment of war material captured.

ENGLAND NAMES HOWARD MINISTER TO VATICAN

London, December 11.—Official announcement is made of the appointment of Sir Henry Howard as British minister to the vatican.

Sir Henry Howard, who is Great Britain's first permanent diplomatic agent at the vatican, is well known in the United States. He married Miss Cecilia Riggs, daughter of the late George W. Riggs, of Washington, in 1867. She died in 1907. Sir Henry was an attache of the British legation at Washington when he met Miss Riggs.

CONDITION OF KAISER REPORTED MUCH BETTER

London, December 11.—A dispatch to The Evening News from The Hague says:

"According to information reaching here through private sources, Emperor William's condition today showed marked improvement. His temperature this morning was normal. His physicians allowed him to sit up for a few hours."

ONLY SEVEN BRITONS SLAIN IN NAVAL FIGHT

London, December 11.—The admiralty has received a cable dispatch from Vice Admiral Sturdee, of the British squadron, stating that in the battle off the Falkland Islands in which the German cruisers Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Leipzig were sunk, the British casualties totalled seven men killed and four wounded.

No officers, the dispatch says, were either killed or wounded.

IS FOUND NOT GUILTY OF "POISON PEN" NOTES

Detroit, Mich., December 11.—Mrs. Margaret McCready, of Ypsilanti, Mich., was found not guilty today of sending obscene letters through the mails. The case had been on trial in federal court here.

A score or more of unsigned "poison pen" letters were sent to prominent residents of Ypsilanti. It is said a number of families were broken up as a result.

Falls 100 Feet and Lives.

New York, December 11.—W. Leonard Bonney, an aviator, lives tonight after falling 100 feet today when his monoplane capsized as he was making a turn above the Hempstead plains aviation field. Four ribs and his collarbone were fractured and he may have suffered internal injuries. Despite this he has a chance of recovery, physicians said tonight.

HELD ARMED STRIKERS AS GUILTY OF TREASON

Lieutenant of Colorado Troops Describes His Attitude in Coal Strike.

Denver, Colo., December 11.—Lieutenant K. E. Linderfelt, of the Colorado state troops, told the federal commission on industrial relations his story today of the Ludlow tent colony battle and his attitude concerning the enforcement of martial law in the Colorado coal strike.

"A man who takes up arms against the constituted law of the state no longer is a striker, he is a rebel," said Linderfelt. "Of course I have feelings against these men. Not because they were members of the United Mine Workers, but because they were in arms against the law. There is no place in this state for armed men, whether they are strikers or mine guards."

Linderfelt said that if he had been in full charge he would have tried by court-martial the Americans found under arms and would have sent them to the penitentiary for treason. Aliens in arms he would have deported to their native countries, he declared, under the alien laws of 1804 and 1805.

Linderfelt contradicted testimony by H. C. Farber, station agent at Ludlow, who said the battle started immediately after two signal bombs were exploded on Water Tank hill by the militia. Linderfelt testified the bombs were exploded after his detachment was attacked by strikers, entrenched in a railroad cut 600 yards distant. The bombs were a signal for help, he said.

It is Just Natural To Admire Babies

Our altruistic nature impels love for the cooing infant. And at the same time the subject of motherhood is ever before us. To know what to do that will add to the physical comfort of expectant motherhood is a subject that has interested most women of all times. One of the real helpful things is an external abdominal application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." We have known so many grandmothers, who in their younger days relied upon this remedy, and who recommend it to their own daughters that it certainly must be what its name indicates. They have used it for its direct influence upon the muscles, cords, ligaments and tendons as it aims to afford relief from the strain and pain so often unnecessarily severe during the period of expectancy.

A little book mailed by Bradfield Regulator Co., 305 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., refers to many things that women like to read about. It refers not only to the relief from muscle strain due to their expansion but also to nausea, morning sickness, caking of breasts and many other distresses.

CONGRESS WILL HOLD SERVICES FOR PAYNE

Funeral Will Occur in Hall of the House Sunday Morning.

Washington, December 11.—Funeral services for Representative Sereno E. Payne, of New York, who died here suddenly last night, will be held Sunday at 10:30 a. m., in the hall of the house of representatives. No such services have taken place there since the death of Representative Nelson W. Dingley. Plans for the funeral were made at a conference of house leaders. Resolutions adopted invite the senate and a senate committee, the president and his cabinet, the vice president, justices of the supreme court, members of the diplomatic corps, the admiral of the navy and the chief-of-staff of the army to attend the ceremonies.

The body will be taken to Auburn, N. Y., in the custody of the sergeant-at-arms and a committee of the house.

GEORGE NIXON ELECTED HEAD OF ROME CHAMBER

Rome, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—George F. Nixon was last night elected as president of the Rome Chamber of Commerce to serve during the ensuing year, defeating W. W. Woodruff for the position by a majority of 9 votes. The other officers elected were M. S. Lanier, first vice president; J. D. McCartney, second vice president. These, together with W. J. Griffin, F. S. Barron, C. T. Jervis and M. D. Daniel constitute the board of directors.

Commissioner's Race.

Rome, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Indications are that the campaign for first commissioner of Rome under the new commission form of government will be one of the liveliest the city has ever known. Four candidates are already in the field for the place, although the election is not to be held until March. The announced candidates are C. S. Pruden, W. M. Gammon, Cornelius Terhune and John W. Ledbetter. Within the next few days the announcements of J. R. Cantrell, R. H. McClain, B. C. Yancey and John P. Davis are expected. The position pays a salary of $2,900 per annum.

Suit for $10,000.

Rome, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Suit for $10,000 personal damages was filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court yesterday against Judge J. F. Hillyer, a Rome attorney, by J. H. Newsome. Newsome claims that he was permanently injured when an automobile driven by Judge Hillyer struck the bicycle upon which he was riding.

Whisky Is Attributed As Cause of Negroes' Downfall by Conference

Sandersville, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—The A. M. E. conference is rushing business sessions. Bishop Flipper received twenty-six applicants into the body.

The committee on temperance reported through N. K. Knowlton, who denounced in strongest terms that class of the race who are destroying themselves, the women and girlhood of the race in the traffic of whisky and beer.

The report declared that two-thirds of the crimes committed and the most dreadful evil of the negro race came through whisky drinking. The report called upon all officers of the law and decent leaders among the people to deal positively with whisky drinking and selling.

PEONAGE CHARGE AGAINST BOYD IS DISMISSED

Waycross Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—United States Commissioner Herbert W. Wilson today dismissed Thomas Boyd, prominent Pierce county man, arrested on a charge of peonage, made by Cornelius Conner. Witnesses for the government disclosed that the charge could not be sustained, and none of the fifteen witnesses for the defense was sworn.

SWEDEN TO INVESTIGATE MINES IN HER WATERS

Stockholm, December 11.—(Via London.)—The foreign office has begun inquiry into mine laying in Swedish waters which has damaged domestic shipping, to ascertain by what nation the mines were placed and what purpose prompted its action.

Some of the newspapers state the mines were laid by Germany, and demand an indemnity.

Rev. G. A. Lofton Dead.

Nashville, Tenn., December 11.—Dr George A. Lofton, age 76, for twenty-seven years pastor of Central Baptist church and well known as an author, died here tonight of paralysis. Dr. Lofton had been president of the Tennessee Baptist association for twenty-five years.

INCOME TAX WAS PAID BY 357,598 INDIVIDUALS

44 Paid Taxes on Yearly Income of Million or Over.

Washington, December 11.—The first complete compilation of returns under the income tax law was made public today in the annual report of the commissioner of internal revenue. It showed returns for the collection year of 1913 by 357,598 individuals paying those taxes aggregating $28,253,535, as follows:

| Net Income. | Number Returns. |
|---|---|
| $1,000,000 and over | 44 |
| 500,000 to $1,000,000 | 91 |
| 400,000 to 500,000 | 44 |
| 300,000 to 400,000 | 84 |
| 250,000 to 300,000 | 94 |
| 200,000 to 250,000 | 145 |
| 150,000 to 200,000 | 311 |
| 100,000 to 150,000 | 785 |
| 75,000 to 100,000 | 998 |
| 50,000 to 75,000 | 2,618 |
| 40,000 to 50,000 | 2,427 |
| 30,000 to 40,000 | 4,553 |
| 25,000 to 30,000 | 4,164 |
| 20,000 to 25,000 | 6,817 |
| 15,000 to 20,000 | 11,977 |
| 10,000 to 15,000 | 26,818 |
| 5,000 to 10,000 | 101,718 |
| 3,333 to 5,000 | 114,484 |
| 2,500 to 3,333 | 79,426 |

Returns were made by 278,835 married persons, 55,212 single men and 25,551 single women. The normal tax of 1 per cent on all taxable incomes produced $12,728,038. Incomes of more than $20,000 a year and subject to surtax produced $15,525,497.

The figures show that most of the individuals with large net incomes live in districts near the cities of New York Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Detroit. More single women, as well as more single men paying the tax were found in New York than anywhere else. Married women made separate returns in every collection district except in the fifth North Carolina.

Returns were filed by 1,426 Americans residing abroad, representing a total net income of $19,843,399 and 425 returns were made by nonresident aliens representing income amounting to $7,317,842.

There were 316,909 corporations doing business in the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30. They reported capital stock aggregating $54,071,319,185, an increase over the previous year of about $2,333,000,000 reported by 305,836 corporations. The net income of the corporations for the year was $4,329,550,008, or nearly 7 per cent on their capital, with bonded and other indebtedness amounting to $37,136,215,096. The net income reported for the year showed an increase of more than $500,000,000.

The commissioner announced that failures to make proper returns were few and cases of false or fraudulent returns still fewer.

The commissioner pointed out that "bootlegging" had increased to a marked degree in states with prohibition laws.

MRS. ANNIE F. TAYLOR, ATLANTA PIONEER, DIES

The death last night of Mrs. Annie F. Taylor, at her residence at Peachtree Inn, marks the passing of one of Atlanta's pioneer women, and one who will be missed by a large circle of friends in the city. Mrs. Taylor came to Atlanta in 1858 from Massachusetts, and was here when Sherman captured the city. She was 80 years of age.

Her former home was in Massachusetts. She was a member of the Episcopal church. Surviving her are two children, Mrs. J. W. Watts, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Frederick M. Powers, well-known lawyer of Atlanta and former justice of the peace.

PUBLIC OPINION STOPS EXECUTION OF NEGROES

Starkville, Miss., December 11.—Public sentiment against the hanging of two negroes here today was crystallized when a sufficient fund was raised for an appeal bond for the men scheduled to die. By this action a stay of life was granted Henry Seals and Peter Bohlen, convicted of murder and robbery, until the supreme court can pass on their cases. Governor Brewer declined to interfere with the case.

A large crowd had gathered for the execution. The negroes had put on the black robes, pine coffins were ranged alongside the gallows and Sheriff Lee Nichols was forming the procession from the courthouse to the scaffold in the jail yard when the stay of execution was received.

ADVERTISING BUSINESS SHOWS LARGE INCREASE

Chicago, December 11.—That the advertising business is increasing is indicated by the heavy placing of contracts for early months of 1915, according to executive committeemen of the Associated Advertising Club of the World, which met here today.

The educational committee of the association has investigated business conditions in 170 cities in the United States. Although results of the investigation have not been compiled, Lewellyn Pratt, chairman of the committee, said that from representative reports it was evident that the retail demand for the last few months "has been equal or a little better than that of a year ago."

JAP SQUADRON SEEKS CRUISER PRINZ EITEL

Tokio, December 11.—According to reliable information reaching Tokio today, a squadron of Japanese warships is seeking the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich off the coast of Chile.

One of the most recent exploits of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich was the sinking early in December of the British steamer Charcas off Port Corral, Chile.

The manufacture of fuel briquettes from sawdust, shavings and naphthalene is a new Colorado industry.

Dick Canfield Dead.

New York, December 11.—Richard Canfield, a widely known sporting man of New York and Saratoga, died tonight at his home here from cerebral hemorrhage resulting from a fracture of the skull. His injury was sustained in a fall on a subway stairway last Wednesday.

GREAT HOLIDAY REDUCTION IN BUSINESS SCHOLARSHIPS AT BAGWELL BUSINESS COLLEGE

Start the Year Right With a Business Education. You Can Get a Bagwell Business Course for Next Few Weeks at Almost Half Usual Cost.

Bagwell Business College, of Atlanta, is now offering the greatest opportunity young men and women will ever have to secure a first-class business education.

Their great holiday offer represents the most liberal reduction in the price of scholarships that has probably ever been made by a business college of this section.

If you are going to take a business course next year, write the Bagwell Business College at once for their great Christmas offer. You cannot afford to take up a business course without first ascertaining what Bagwell Business College can and will do for you.

The improved methods and systems of shorthand and bookkeeping taught exclusively by this college save its pupils at least one-half the time and the expense required elsewhere.

Not only that, Bagwell graduates are successful. They are holding the best positions with leading firms and at good salaries. Everyone who completes a course at this well known school secures a position. Nearly 500 young men and women were prepared and placed in positions by this school last year.

A large percentage of the most successful stenographers and bookkeepers throughout the Southeastern States are Bagwell graduates. Write the college for the long list giving the position held in each instance.

We want you to understand that the same high-class instruction and expert teachers will obtain under this special offer.

Write a letter or postal card today and state when you expect to enter a business college.

Address Bagwell Business College, 34 Luckie street, Atlanta, Ga.

There is a night class for those who cannot attend the day.

JOS. R. SOLOMON.

West Point, Ga., Dec. 8, 1914.
Mr. J. O. Bagwell, Pres.,
Bagwell Business College,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Bagwell: I take pleasure in stating that I mastered bookkeeping at your college in five weeks. I am now keeping a very heavy set of books for the firm of Solomon Bros., and have no difficulty in handling the work.

I consider your course the most modern and easiest to learn of all others. I am very grateful for the interest you took in me while a student at your college.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) JOS. R. SOLOMON.

A Sale of Dresses--the Savings Are Large, the Styles Smart

Eighty Serge Dresses in Two Lots and Ninety-Five Silk Dresses Marked for Disposal

A Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Dress Sale—to the knowing such an announcement means much.

Having decided that we shall dispose of these dresses, charming affairs, too, we go at it in the fashion that characterizes Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. sales. We make the prices so positively and plainly low that they disarm doubt and bring one to the full realization that here indeed is opportunity.

So today you will find—

$8.75 to $12.50 Serge Dresses $5.75 | $15.00 to $19.50 Serge Dresses $9.95 | $25.00 to $39.50 Silk Dresses $15

There are thirty-five dresses in the $5.75 lot; they were variously $8.75, $10.00, $11.75 to $12.50. Serviceable affairs for about the house or street wear. Navy, green and black serge, often touched with satin. Styles new this season, "straight" dresses, dresses with "loose" bodices and straight and tunic skirts.

There are 45 dresses in six models at $9.95; these were $15.00, $18.75 and $19.50, and were made after models that ordinarily would be a great deal more. Fur-trimmed collars, satin roll and choker collars, long sleeves, new flare skirts—browns, blues and black.

The silk dresses at $15.00 were $25.00, $29.75, $35.00 to $39.50, and they make a beautiful assortment.

For street wear—satins, crepes de chine, charmeuse and poplins, often combined with velvets. Navy, brown, a few in wistaria and black. As smart as the style ideas of the season permit.

Reduced--All Afternoon and Evening Dresses

The precious stocks of the little blue room have all been reduced—variously but none the less positively—so now, at the beginning of the holiday season, a simple or a most elaborate afternoon or evening dress at a saving.

Artistic models done in panne velvets, Georgette crepes, chiffons, heavy gold brocades and laces.

New Coats--New Skirts Have Just Arrived

New coats have just come in—zibelines, corduroys, cloths, ripple cloths, in black, grays, browns, blues. Smarter developments of the belted and flaring skirt styles.

NEW SKIRTS—corduroys and covert cloth skirts in the wider, flare models.

Chinese Dances Are Shown In Pretty Chinese Garden

At the third of the series of dinner dances at the Georgian Terrace last evening, Miss Moulton, of Chicago, and Mr. Bell demonstrated a group of Chinese dances, among them the much discussed Ta Tao. Miss Moulton wore the Chinese costume of the trousers and full skirted coat of blue silk embroidered in roses. Mr. Bell wore the typical costume of the Chinese artist. In the rose dining room, where dinner was served, the scheme of decoration suggested all the picturesque beauty of a tropical garden.

From the chandelier in the center of the room garlands of bamboo hung with Chinese lanterns formed a canopy which extended to the four corners of the room. The lights had shades of lotus flowers, and Chinese parasols opened over the side lights on the central columns and on the pilasters. Four large Japanese parasols marked the tables defining the circle in which the dancers were, and all the smaller tables had their center pieces of bright colored flowers, and narcissi.

Elaborate Decorations.

Palms were banked in the corners of the room and their foliage was reflected in the mirrored passage way between the rose room and palm room, where the decorations continued the Chinese colors with rose pink prevailing. General dancing was enjoyed after dinner, the entire lower floor of the hotel being thrown open for dancing. Three hundred guests were entertained, among the hosts of the occasion being: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wessells, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Phinizy, of Augusta; Dr. and Mrs. Elkin, Dr. and Mrs. Achison, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Gard, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kiser, Mr. and Mrs Thomas B Paine, Mrs. J. T. Crass, Mr. Merrick, Mrs. E. W. McCerren, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Welhouse, Mrs. M. P. Cooledge, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hockaday, Mr. F. J Merriam, Mr and Mrs. S. A. Pointer, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunter, Mr. J. P. Toler, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McKenzie, Mr. Jack Pappenheimer, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Williams, Mr. R. Cobb, Mr. Everett, Miss Nina Gentry, Miss Rosalie Mayer, Mr. Howard Conway and many others.

Among the visiting guests was Miss McEvoy, of Baltimore; Miss Adriance, of Ohio; Miss Dickey, of Augusta; Miss Byck, of Savannah; Miss Caldwell, of Chattanooga, and many others.

Witchard-Brown.

The wedding of Miss Ella Witchard to Mr. Joseph E. Brown, of Atlanta, was an event of Friday evening, December 5, at the residence of Rev. John F. Purser, in West End. The ceremony was witnessed by a party of very close friends.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white satin, draped in tunic of tulle beaded in crystals. Mr. Brown is well known in the newspaper circles of Atlanta.

Chanuckah Concert.

A chanuckah concert will be given by the children of the Hebrew Sunday school of the Congregation Ahavath Achim, under the direction of Mr. M. Sheinbaum, Sunday, December 13, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., at Gilmer Street synagogue, corner Piedmont avenue.

Those taking part will be: Dr. Solo. H. Goldstone, Sunday school, the Young Israel club, Rabbi Dr. H. Yood, Miss Rae Jaffe, Isaac Zukerman, Helen Bryan, Rosa Gelstein, Rosa Negin, Aaron Goldberg, Eva Weinberg, Miss Bertha Ellison, the Flowers of Israel club, Dora Solomon, Rebecca Dorfan, Dora Gold, Bany Rosenberg, Rosa Reisman, Ida Cohen, Miss Annie Reisman, the Daughters of Zion society, Miss Sarah Cohen.

The arrangements committee includes Miss Rae Jaffe, chairman; Miss Bertha Ellison, Miss Annie Reisman, Miss Sarah Cohen, Dr. A. Bryan, Miss Hannah Elman and Miss Rebecca Pauline Fromberg.

Embroidered Linens.

For the benefit of a church school in Japan, there is a very fine exhibit of embroidered and drawn work linen for home use and decoration, to be sold for the benefit of the school, and made by the Japanese girls themselves.

The exhibit can be seen at the rooms of Mrs. Thomas McWhinney in the Grand building.

Bazar for Child's Home.

Mrs. Gaffney's circle will conduct a bazar next Monday and Tuesday, December 14 and 15, in the Empire Life building, ground floor, for the building fund of the home. An invitation is extended to all friends of the home to attend.

Mrs. Jacoby Entertains.

Mrs. L. B. Jacoby entertained Thursday afternoon at her home on Oak street, the Woman's Auxiliary to the R. M. A. The rooms were prettily decorated with Christmas bells and potted plants. A salad course was served.

Enjoying Mrs. Jacoby's hospitality were Mrs. F. W. Rooney, Mrs. B. R. Clark, Mrs. W. A. Moreland, Mrs. R. M. Wilhite, Mrs. W. M. Gill, Mrs. W. J. Fuller, Mrs. A. L. Fuller, Mrs. J. B. Hemperley, Mrs. J. W. Acker, Mrs. B. Norris and Mrs. William Ellington.

Dinner Party.

At the dinner-dance at the Georgian Terrace last night Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson Williams entertained in compliment to Miss Gage, of Birmingham, the guest of Miss Mary King and to Miss Blackmar, of Columbus, the guest of Miss Mary Murphey. In the party were Miss King, Miss Gage, Miss Murphey, Miss Blackmar; Messrs. Allen, Palmour Johnson, Ben Daniels, Charles Carter.

To Visitors.

Miss Mary Murphey and her guest, Miss Blackmar, of Columbus, and Miss Wyckliffe Wurm and her guest, Miss Carpenter, of South Carolina, will be the center of a party at the tea-dance at Druid Hills this afternoon.

Trophies to Be Awarded.

Concert at the Ansley.

At Hotel Ansley, Wednesday, December 16, at 8 o'clock, Cadman's beautiful song-cycle, "The Morning of the Year," will be sung by the following well-known Atlanta artists, who are giving their services for the benefit of the Chuch of The Holy Comforter: Miss Mayme Clyburn, soprano; Miss Sylvia Spritz, contralto; Mr. James C. Wardwell, tenor; Mr. Harry Bates, baritone; Miss Ethel Beyer, accompanist. Admission, 25 cents.

Miss Stewart's Luncheon.

Miss Eloise Stewart was hostess at a bridge luncheon yesterday morning at her home on West Peachtree street in compliment to Miss Glenn Dickey, of Augusta, the guest of Miss Josephine Mobley. Vases of Killarney roses decorated the apartments, and a basket of roses was the centerpiece of the luncheon table.

The prizes were a set of leather bound engagement books. The guest of honor was given a vanity box in tapestry and gold lace.

Miss Stewart wore a gown of blue velvet. Mrs. Blair Armstrong assisted in entertaining.

The guests were Misses Lyra Swift, of Columbus, the guest of Mrs. C. C. McGehee; Dorothy High, Louise Broyles, Dorothy Harman, Jessie McKee, Margaret Grant, Nellie Hood Ridley, Elizabeth Blanc, Mary Rice and Helen McCarty.

Miss LeCraw Entertains.

A bright occasion of yesterday afternoon was the 5 o'clock tea given by Miss Grace LeCraw at her home on West Peachtree street, in compliment to Miss Mary King and her visitor, Miss Marguerite Gage, of Birmingham; Miss Lawson Hines and her guest, Miss Hallie Morton, of Tennessee, and Miss Wyckliffe Wurm and her guest, Miss Nina Carpenter, of Greenville, S. C.

Holly and mistletoe, with plants and baskets of American Beauty roses, were artistic decorations throughout the rooms. A basket of American Beauty roses was in the center of the tea table, and the mints and other details were red. Mrs. William Akers and Miss Daisy LeCraw poured tea, and assisting in entertaining were Miss Mary Murphy, Miss Susie Blackmar, of Columbus; Miss Lucy Roberts and Mrs. C. V. LeCraw.

Miss LeCraw wore pink charmeuse with overdress of net trimmed in white fur. Miss Daisy LeCraw wore red charmeuse and black net with jet trimmings, and Mrs. LeCraw was gowned in black velvet and lace.

The receiving party and a number of young men were entertained at an informal dance in the evening.

Informal Luncheon.

Mrs. Hugh L. McKee will entertain at a small luncheon today at her home on Piedmont avenue, in compliment to Miss Josephine Mobley and her guest, Miss Glenn Dickey, of Augusta.

For Miss McCarty.

Miss Helen McCarty was honor guest at the tea yesterday afternoon at the Driving club given by Miss Marian Atchison.

A basket of swansonia, through which was caught butterfly bows of pink tulle, was in the center of the prettily appointed table, about which were seated the guests, twelve of the season's debutantes.

Dinner-Dance.

Entertaining at the dinner-dance this evening at the Driving club will be Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell, who will entertain for Miss Isobel Robinson. Others having guests will be Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Goldsmith, Mr. Joel Hurt, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Woodruff.

Tea and Dance for College Set.

Miss Leila Ponder and Miss Venice Mayson entertained at a pretty 5 o'clock tea yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Ponder on Ponce de Leon avenue.

The decorations were carried out in the Christmas colors of red and green, and the centerpiece of the tea table in the dining room was a miniature Christmas tree. Miss Kathleen Law and Miss Reble Smith presided at the punch table and assisting in entertaining were Mrs. A. S. Harless, Mrs. Guy Woolford, Mrs. S. R. Jacobs, Mrs. Fred Tarnke, Mrs. J. L. Mayson, Miss Carrie Blount, Miss Gladys Grant, Miss Emma Winston, Miss Rudene Becht and Miss Mildred Thomas.

The guests included one hundred and fifty members of the college set.

In the evening Miss Ponder and Miss Mayson entertained the members of their sorority at Washington seminary at a dancing party.

Tea for Visitor.

Mrs. W. W. Austell had a few friends informally at tea yesterday afternoon at her home on Juniper street to meet her visitor, Miss Zola Brashear, of St. Louis.

Afternoon Bridge Party.

Miss Ethel Wilson was hostess at bridge yesterday afternoon for her visitor, Miss Alice Brown, of Asheville, N. C.

The house was attractively decorated with growing plants and Richmond roses, and the score cards were hand-painted in roses. A red leather traveling case was given the honor guest and a gold friendship circle pin was the prize for top score and a bridge score was the consolation. Mrs. Charles P. Wilson and Miss Isabel Wilson assisted in entertaining.

Teachers and Preachers Are Invited to Attend Julius Caesar "Movie"

Atlanta school teachers and ministers will be the guests Saturday morning of the Grand theater management at a private exhibition of the "Julius Caesar" motion pictures which will be shown publicly for the first time in this city next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The film was brought to this country only recently from Rome, where the production was staged.

Today patrons of the Grand will be given a last opportunity to see Rex Beach's great American novel, "The Spoilers," in motion pictures. For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the Grand will offer "The Marked Woman," with Barbara Tennant in the title role.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS TO HOLD CAUCUS TODAY

Washington, December 11.—Senator Kern today called a caucus of democratic senators tomorrow afternoon to discuss the legislative program. The aim is to so frame the program that there may be no necessity for an extra session after March 4 next.

President Wilson has told administration leaders that he wishes the work of the sixty-third congress completed when March 4 arrives and leaders in both houses are unanimous in their intention to avert another extra session.

Meaning of Christmas.

"What Does Christmas Mean?" will be the subject of the sermon of Rev. H. H. Proctor at the First Congregational church, corner Courtland avenue and Houston street, Sunday night, and at the morning hour his topic will be "Winning a World."

Constitution Warmly Praised For Operating Cooking School

The large audience that attended the cooking school of The Constitution, operated by Mrs. Florence Austin Chase in the Auditorium, gave a hearty rising vote of thanks to The Constitution yesterday afternoon for having made the institution possible.

One of the biggest audiences of the school was in attendance Friday. It was the last day of the school, which has lasted since last Monday, a class each day. Mrs. Chase devoted Friday's session to the art of preparing ices and other delicacies. Also to the manufacture of the perfect pie crust, a most important delicacy as was demonstrated by Mrs. Chase to the satisfaction of her audience.

Friday's audience—as well as the audiences of all other sessions—declared The Constitution's cooking school to have been the most successful that has ever been conducted in Atlanta. It is regretted that Mrs. Chase could not continue her sessions for another week, as there were hundreds of housewives unable to attend all of the classes.

Mrs. Chase is considered one of the most expert domestic scientists of the country. She is a graduate of one of Illinois' biggest colleges, of which she carried off first honors, and she has acquired a national reputation as lecturer and demonstrator. Until her engagement with The Constitution she has devoted her time to chautauquas and the lecture platform.

She carried Atlanta housewives through every branch of domestic science, including the manufacture of foodstuffs and their service. She even instructed them in the art of entertainment, formal and informal.

Her sessions included the cooking of meats, vegetables, bread, pastries, ices and all other table necessities. Atlanta recognized her ability from the outset, and her audiences grew in proportion daily, until Friday, the last day, when the huge Auditorium annex was filled to its capacity.

She responded to the rising vote with a grateful address of thanks, telling the women of her audience that it would be with extreme pleasure that she would accept an early invitation to return.

Committee on War Relief Makes Its Official Report

The Atlanta war relief committee, of which Mrs. Porter King is chairman, has completed the work undertaken at the time of organization. The last gift was a bale of cotton which was donated to the committee for hospital purposes by W. W. Stevens, of Mayfield, Ga., and came in response to the appeal made by Mrs. Richard Johnston in The Constitution when she requested the donation of cotton.

The Atlanta committee herewith presents its official report of work accomplished:

The War Relief association, which was organized by Mrs. Theodore Shonts on November 3 and which began work November 9, made its first shipment to the hospitals of the allies in France on December 7.

The list of articles sent in this shipment is published below, for the reason that the association has discontinued regular meetings and wishes in this way to express grateful thanks to the men, women and children of Atlanta for their co-operation, for their generous contributions of cash, sewing, knitting materials of all kinds, and more than all for the personal service and interest which has made it possible to alleviate in a small measure the unparalleled distress and misery abroad. The association wishes publicly to express thanks to the press of the city and to the following for their assistance either by donations or personal service:

Brown & Allen, Cone's drug store, Palmer's drug store, Lamar, Taylor & Riley Drug company, C. J. Kamper Grocery company, Davison-Paxon-Stokes company, Ridley, Williamson & Wyatt, Singer Sewing Machine company, Jewel Shirt company, A. M. Robinson company, Keely company, St. Anthony's guild of West End, Druid Hills committee, Christian Science committee.

Schools Contribute.

Among the last contributions were those from girls of Martha Berry school, Miss Wurm's Kindergarten, North avenue school, Woodberry school, R. L. Grant, manager Georgian Terrace; Mr. Cundell, Mrs. George Walker, Miss Eda Bartholomew, Mrs. N. H. L. Nelms, Mr. Ed Werner, Mrs. Frank Pearson, Miss Viola Mosely, Ansley Park golf links, Dr. and Mrs. Roy Harris, Mr. W. W. Stevens, of Mayfield, Ga. The two last for bales of cotton.

Every cent of the money contributed has been spent in Atlanta.

The Duchesse de Chaulnes paid the express charges on this shipment to New York, the Southern Express company generously making a special rate. The Campagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique (French line) gives free transportation to France. The shipment sent contains the following: 480 outing flannel hospital shirts, 516 pairs woolen socks, 93 knitted woolen mufflers, 44 pairs knitted wristlets, 42 waist bands, 1 barrel men's old clothing, 2 boxes old linen, 1 bolt gauze, 288 rolls bandages, 12 boxes surgical dressings, 84 spools adhesive tape, 5 pounds bichloride mercury tablets, 12 dozen cans concentrated soup, 2 bales cotton.

As officers, we gratefully acknowledge the splendid assistance of all the generous people who have helped, believing that while charity begins at home, it should not end there.

Mrs. Porter King, chairman; Mrs. Reuben R. Arnold, treasurer; Mrs. Howard Bucknell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joseph Moody, distributing and receiving; Mrs. R. W. Johnston, secretary.

Regains His Health Through Help Given By Atlanta Society

At the Terminal station Friday afternoon, one of the Red Cross workers sold a Christmas stamp to a traveler who said he had just come in from Colorado Springs. While talking with the young woman on the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society of Atlanta, to which will be turned over the proceeds of the stamp sales, the visitor casually remarked that if it hadn't been for the aid given him four years ago by this society, he "wouldn't be in Atlanta today." He said he formerly lived here; was "down and out" and ill and that the society, through Miss Rose Lowe, its secretary, had taken him up, given him aid and "made a man of me," as he put it.

Sales of the stamps Friday nearly equalled the record made on the initial selling day—Thursday—when approximately $300 was collected. The ladies in charge of the workers Friday were Mrs. L. D. Anderson and Mrs. Howard Bucknell, and they were assisted by Miss Carolyn Chisholm, Mrs. Westervelt Terhune, Mrs. William Tilt, Miss C. Hill, Mrs. D. R. Coles, Mrs. James Johnson, Miss Mary Bateman, Miss Finley, Miss M. Carter, Miss Laurie Johnson, Mrs. Charles W. Davis, Mrs. E. K. Van Winkle, Mrs. George Forrester, Mrs. Hudson Moore and Miss Kathleen Foster. Mrs. William E. Arnaud and Miss Frances Woodbury will be in charge today.

Mrs. John Hill's committee, which will preside on Wednesday next, the final day of the street sales, was named Friday. Her aides include Mrs. George Harrington, Mrs. E. K. Gumby, Mrs. R. L. Cooney and Mrs. Ulrich Atkinson.

REV. L. A. BROWN WILL ADDRESS RY. Y. M. C. A.

Rev. L. A. Brown, D. D., pastor of Temple Baptist church, will speak at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association rooms, 31½ West Alabama street, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. This will be an opportunity to hear one of Atlanta's leading preachers, and it is the wish of the association that there might be a large attendance of men. A welcome awaits all. The singing by the audience of men is uplifting, and all may have a part in this feature. The association orchestra will lead. The rooms are open all day and are warm and comfortable, and visitors are welcome.

BIG MOVING PICTURE CARNIVAL FOR CHARITY

A big moving picture carnival, at which will be presented all the first-run feature releases of the Atlanta exhibitors, will be staged at the Grand theater Sunday, December 20, for charity. It will be the most elaborate offering of moving picture attractions the city has ever known, and a mammoth attendance is expected. New songs will also be rendered by singers employed on the bills of the city's favorite picture houses. The attraction will be produced by the Motion Picture Trades' club, which is composed of the exhibitors and booking agents of the city.

AUTO FIRE ENGINE COLLIDES WITH AN AUTOMOBILE

Columbus, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—An automobile fire engine en route to a fire crashed into an automobile driven by Sol Lafkowitz on Broad street, in the heart of the business section, this afternoon.

The automobile was knocked from the street to the side of the street car's transfer station, smashing a bootblack stand on the sidewalk, and one of the wheels was knocked off and sent spinning down the street.

Lafkowitz was cut in several places by flying glass from his windshield, sustaining one cut on his forehead over three inches long. His escape from death is regarded as remarkable. His injuries will not prove very serious.

CONCEALING ASSETS CHARGED TO HARRELLS

Some $5,000 of Winecoff's Receipts for Shriner Week Not Accounted For.

Judge Percy H. Adams, federal referee in bankruptcy, began Friday an investigation of a complaint lodged by Trustee H. A. Ferris, alleging that M. I. and Frank Harrell, formerly operators of the Hotels Winecoff and Aragon, grossly withheld at least $5,000 of receipts from Shrine week, and also manipulated entries for guests, bills. Their petition of bankruptcy was filed last June, when, it was supposed, their financial troubles were caused by the payment of $50,000 yearly rental for the Hotel Winecoff.

Miss Pearl Rutland, cashier at the Winecoff at the time of the failure, stated that numerous entries were made on the guest books which were never recorded on the cash book. She also testified that the older Mrs. Harrell took a handsome vase from the mezzanine floor, claiming it her property.

The bankruptcy petition filed by the Harrells, May 28, just after Shrine week, showed that they owed $79,927 and had $60,866. They owed, among other debts, an item of $18,000 for rental of the Winecoff from the Walton Investment company. There was also a mortgage of $23,000 on the furnishings of the hotel.

His Valuables Recovered, Merriam Lauds Detectives

When city detectives presented F. J. Merriam, president of The Southern Ruralist, with the gold watch and two pearl rings that were stolen by a burglar from his home, 513 Peachtree street, Thursday night, Mr. Merriam recanted the things he had said about the inactivity of the police.

"I want to take back all the things I said about the policemen in Friday morning's Constitution," said Mr. Merriam. "I believe in giving everyone a square deal, and want to give the city detectives who have done excellent work in recovering the stolen jewelry their share of praise."

Chief Lanford's detectives got busy overnight, Thursday, and found where the burglar had sold to another party the watch and pearl rings taken from the Peachtree residence. The thief, who is a negro, is now under arrest at police headquarters.

PYTHIANS ELECT MORAN HEAD OF ATLANTA LODGE

Atlanta lodge, No. 20, K. of P., held their annual election of officers Monday night, December 7, with the following results: Chancellor commander, O. A. Moran; vice chancellor, Fred Turner; prelate, C. B. Myers; master of work, Young H. Fraser; keeper of records and seal, A. A. Craig; master of finance, W. A. Jackson; master of exchequer, Charles H. Lehman; master-at-arms, Frank T. Ridge; inner guard, Fred H. Goette; outer guard, Cosby Swanson; trustee, Rev. Russell K. Smith; Pythian castle director, R. M. Jones.

"DEVIL IN AMUSEMENTS" DR. SENTELL'S SUBJECT

Rev. William M. Sentell will deliver the second of a series of sermons on "The Devil in Disguise" Sunday evening at the Gordon Street Baptist church. The topic for this particular sermon will be "The Devil in Amusements," and the sermon is expected to be an interesting discussion of the popularized forms of amusement.

He May Come Tonight!

The thief is lurking everywhere! There is no telling when he will visit you. No doubt you carry fire insurance. Yet there are four burglaries to every fire. Why not carry BURGLARY INSURANCE?

Our policy covers all household goods and personal effects, belonging to any member of the family, against loss by burglary, theft or larceny, including theft by servants or other employees. It even covers damage to property, plumbing and other fixtures. You are absolutely protected against any possible loss.

We offer all of the protection outlined above at the trifling cost of $12.50 on $1,000 for residences; and $15.00 on $1,000 for apartments per annum. The proposition is its own argument, the necessity of taking advantage of it is obvious, especially in view of the present crime wave. ## Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden Speaks on Problem Of Unemployment

"The Problem of Unemployment" will be the subject of Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden's Sunday evening sermon at the Central Presbyterian church. The message will be one of cheer and encouragement to employers and wage-earners.

Dr. Ogden believes that the present need is entirely temporary, and can be fully met by the co-operation of all citizens.

The morning subject will be "The Prince of Life."

SHIPPING SUGGESTIONS

Valuable Advice Given by Southern Express Agent.

W. T. Elder, agent of the Southern Express company in this city, has called the attention of the patrons to the following important suggestions in connection with the packing, addressing and shipping of remembrances which will aid greatly in securing their safe and prompt transportation and delivery:

Use ink or crayon in marking all shipments. Write on the package or box. Avoid tags when possible.

Consignee's street address should always be shown, where practicable.

Shipper's name and address should appear on all consignments.

All packages should be securely put up, in order to withstand ordinary wear and tear of transportation. Packages should be wrapped in stout paper and tied with strong cord.

Glass or similar fragile articles should be inclosed in strong wooden boxes or corrugated paper cartons—never in paper packages. Ask for special "fragile" or "glass" labels to be affixed.

Declare contents of shipments, and when consisting of articles of food mark on outside of package "perishable."

When desired, agents of the company will supply labels requesting consignee "Do not open until Christmas."

Money, jewelry and other articles of value should invariably be packed separately, and forwarded through money department.

Avoid the rush—ship early.

GRADY MEDICAL STAFF LAUDS C. S. NORTHEN

The medical staff of the Grady hospital has passed the following resolutions, in memoriam of the late Charles S. Northen, formerly trustee of the hospital:

Whereas, God, in His omnipotence, has taken Charles S. Northen, for many years a trustee of the Grady hospital.

Be it resolved by the medical staff of the Grady hospital, That in the death of Mr. Northen the institution has lost one of its best friends and most faithful and active workers, one who ever had the best interest of the hospital at heart and who worked zealously and unceasingly for its development.

That the city and state have lost one of its most useful and best beloved citizens.

That we sincerely mourn the loss of Mr. Northen as our friend and counsellor and express to his family our heartfelt sympathy in their great bereavement.

That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes, that a copy be sent to the family and be published in the daily press.

JACK POLLARD SEEKS EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Governor John M. Slaton, Friday, heard a petition from friends of Jack Pollard, convicted at the September term, 1910, of the Coweta superior court of the murder of Jack Chappelle. The petitioners sought either a pardon or a parole.

In the trial court Pollard pleaded guilty to the crime. The pardon commission has given him a recommendation. Governor Slaton, however, withheld his decision on the petition pending a hearing in the case of two negroes, Wright and Stallings, who were convicted with Pollard of complicity in the crime. A number of Coweta county people appeared before the governor and testified to Chappelle's desperate character and the good character of Pollard prior to the crime.

PRIZE COUPON BALLOONS GIVE BOYS FINE CHANCE

500 Will Be Released From Roof of Eiseman Brothers at 11 This Morning.

This second of the popular prize-carrying balloon ascensions conducted by Eiseman Bros., 11-17 Whitehall street, has been planned with a special view of giving every school boy in Atlanta a chance to chase these prize balloons, every one of the 500 to positively carry a prize coupon, calling for an item of apparel anywhere from a handkerchief to an overcoat or suit of clothes.

Today, promptly at 11 o'clock, these miniature gas bags will go sailing merrily through the air, many of them to be swept by contrary shifts of air, right down into the crowd, and within easy reach of the contesting youngsters.

There is a bushel of fun in store for the boys; for besides those balloons that fall an easy prey to the participants in the struggle for them, many will go sailing off in the teeth of the wind, giving the boys a chance for a Marathon, probably a cross-country run, trying to keep pace with a prize.

No advertising stunt pulled off in Atlanta in years has awakened the enthusiasm or provided as much amusement as this balloon chasing idea of Eiseman Bros. And besides, a number of people have profited by this unusual line of publicity.

NEGRO LABORER KILLED WHEN BRICK WALL FALLS

When a brick wall at 81 Decatur street fell Friday morning one negro workman was buried underneath the debris and killed. Another workman saved his life by leaping from the top of the wall on which they were working.

James Walker was working beneath the wall, which fell on him and killed him. Charles Willingham, who was working on top of the wall, saved his life by leaping far to the side.

The negroes were engaged in remodeling the Dixie theater.

Sunday has been designated as "Every-Member-at-Church" day at the First Universalist church, 16 East Harris street. A special effort is being made to have every member and every friend of the church in attendance upon the 11 o'clock morning service. The pastor, Rev. Fred A. Line, will preach the fourth of a series of doctrinal sermons, his subject being, "What We Believe About Heaven and Hell."

SCIPLE SUES THE CITY FOR $25,000 DAMAGES

Alleging injury to his Whitehall street holdings by the regrading of Whitehall street, Attorney Reuben Arnold yesterday filed with the clerk of superior court a petition for $25,000 damages against the city of Atlanta for George W. Sciples.

Mr. Sciples charges that his buildings near Mitchell street were left standing 10 feet above the level of the street lowered by the regrading.

LABOR GOES ON RECORD.

The resolutions in which the Federation of Trades goes on record in favor of a bond issue to rehabilitate the school system of Atlanta, and specifically commends The Constitution, are likely to go down as a notable document in the civic history of Atlanta.

Organized labor has seen with crystal vision that it is the masses that suffer most from inadequate educational facilities and the masses that have the right to demand that the plant for the upkeep of which they are so largely taxed shall be kept at concert efficiency.

The Constitution enlisted in this campaign in full view of the facts and of the urgency of a remedy. It is a gratification to know that our efforts are appreciated, and that support may be expected from a source so instrumental in the upbuilding of the city.

The federation is right when it says that new schools must be built; changes made in schools now standing; and proper high school facilities provided. It is right, also, when it ignores the old provincial method of making current revenue meet current need and also the needs of expansion. It recognizes that the one businesslike and just plan is to use the credit of the city for improvements essentially permanent in their nature and in the enjoyment of which posterity will have a conspicuous part.

The man with means can send his child to a private or preparatory school.

The man of the masses must depend upon the city to educate his child, and it is the man of the masses who is in the ascendant, who has the final voice in this city.

Here is another significant fact:

The men of the masses are always the hardest to convince as to city expenditure, as to whether or not the city got value received from its previous investments.

The indorsement of the school bond issue at this time by the Federation of Trades is an answer to the scattering criticism of the latest bond issue.

Not only organized labor, but that large class for which organized labor unofficially speaks, has put the imprimatur of its approval upon the one solution to an approaching civic crisis.

Men who play a commanding role in the industries of Atlanta demand that their children shall have a square deal in the way of education.

That fact goes a long way to reassure the friends of the schools in this city.

SERENO PAYNE.

The death of Congressman Sereno E. Payne, of New York, is significant as marking the passing of a landmark of one of the most important political epochs of American history.

Payne belongs, to an extent, in the same political school as Cannon and Aldrich and Smoot and Gallinger. He differed in that he was, perhaps, an even more intensely party man than any of these.

With Payne party came very near being a religion. He elevated the creed of protection to almost the same altitude.

When he took charge of tariff revision in the house, following the extra session called by Taft just after his inauguration, it was as futile to expect genuine revision from him as it would have been to expect Christianity from a Moslem. The man simply could not help being a high protectionist; it was ground into his fiber.

Whatever his mistakes on this score, and history must pass on them, he must be given credit for studiousness and for conscientiousness. When he attacked a subject, especially if it related to the tariff, he sucked it dry. It might be that unconsciously he warped it to suit his inborn convictions. But when the schedules appeared in print they had an outward plausibility that the efforts of a less able man would have lacked.

It is probable we have seen the last, or are rather seeing the last, of the Payne type in politics, to the degree that one apotheosizes party. Men recognize the need of organization and will always utilize it.

But the individual partisan is himself growing less bigoted, less apt to think that his antagonist is made up wholly of evil. He is paying more attention to the public voice and the public need and less to the lure of party advantage.

In his day Payne served his party and his country well. The new school that has since come up will do well to imitate some of his more abiding characteristics.

DAWN AT DOVER.

Great men-o'-war plunging heavily in the swell; the fog covering all like a thin, gray ghost; searchlights pricking the blanket frantically; humble fisherfolk lining the wharves, looking out bewildered over a scene as from a nightmare; slim, sinister, small gray hulls just cresting the waves and darting in toward the shore or significant rods thrusting their way up through the water and bobbing and dipping; the babel of command in many voices, the crash of heavy guns; over all, those on land and those on sea, the living fear of death, sudden, without warning; and over all the chill, pearl dawn rolling back the blackness.

That is the impression one gets from the story of the German submarine raid on the English harbor at Dover. Whatever subsequent changes may be made in the tale, that impression lingers, etched in as a picture of the unnamed terror and possibilities of modern warfare.

Whoever called the submarine the "assassin of the deep" spoke with the voice of inspiration. Survivors from the catastrophe of the Cressy, the Hogue and the Aboukir tell us of the dreadful abruptness of the attack by submarine. No time for preparation. Not the fraction of a second for prayer. A feeling of helpless and baffled tension, since one did not know whence or where to expect death. Then the end, complete and tragic.

Such were partially the conditions at Dover on that dawn when the courageous German submarines—and if the story is true they are due the tribute of courage for dashing into the very teeth of the enemy—appeared off the bar and with hulls just showing or periscopes rising and falling, made their deadly bid for gaining an advantage over the English navy. Add to that, the people looking on anxiously from the shore, the confusion and fog and chill of the early dawn, and the memory is an unmistakable one.

A PEST IN ALL LANDS.

A committee report to the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ, assembled in Richmond, Va., deplores the spasmodic antagonism between this country and Japan, and declares there are jingoes in both countries.

The report would have been more accurate had it stated that the jingo is a pestilence to which no one country has a peculiar claim.

He flourishes in all climes and all ages, knows no flag and is equally at home in the paraphernalia of the jungle or a silk hat.

Some men seem to be so constructed that their "patriotism" must take the form of violence and baiting, of suspicions of other nations, of unreasonable and insane thirst for strife.

We have seen the type nearly plunge this country into war with Japan and, more latterly, with Mexico.

In the halls of congress and the columns of yellow newspapers, we have seen a perfect willingness to involve this nation with any other with which it may at the moment have had a trivial quarrel. It is no fault of the jingoes that we did not have serious trouble with England over the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

A characteristic of the species is that it does its fighting by proxy. A jingo on the firing line is a paradox that has no witnesses. All are long distance warriors, maneuvering for wholesale slaughter, for the desolation of homes, the widowing of women, the destruction of property, the undoing of the progress painfully achieved by civilization.

If the world could universally declare war against the jingo, we should see an end of organized and licensed bloodshed. It is he, in all countries, that foments sentiment that makes hostilities irrevocable, and that plays into the hands of kaisers and kings with mad and secret ambitions.

Fortunately, civilization everywhere is rousing to the folly and danger of the jingo. It is likely his influence will reach its apex with the present century.

JUST from GEORGIA

By FRANK L. STANTON

When the Wind Sings "Holiday."

I.

When the Wind sings "Holiday!"
Let the tired world have its way
With that feelin' of "Hooray!"
Then I says: "Old chap, you're still
Goin' down Time's furrowed hill;
Here's a chance to see the show—
One more whirl before you go!

II.

"Merry crowds are jostlin' long
To the music of a song;
'Tain't the song you heard of old
When Life's harp had strings of gold;
But its notes you somehow know,—
Jine the chorus 'fore you go!"

III.

Then it is my voice I raise,
Singin' to Life's merrier days,
And, as at a fiddle's sound,
I'm a swingin' Time around,
Christmas spirit's got me so,—
"One more whirl before you go!"

* * * * *

"Poets Should Not Reason."

Louis Untermeyer's poem, "Caliban in the Coal Mines," closes with this striking stanza:

"Nothing but blackness above,
And nothing that moves but the cars—
God, if you wish for our love,
Fling us a handful of stars!"

Of this a rather practical north Georgia singer writes:

"Those lines blaze, all right, but there's no reason in 'em. If ever we glimpse a 'handful of stars' coming our way direct we'll be pretty apt to ask the Man in the Moon to 'bat' 'em back to where they belong, and there 'd be just as much probability in the one as in the other."

DISTRACTING NOISES

* * * * *

Sweeter Still the Voyage Seems.

I.

Nearer to the realms of Night
Climb the Christmases in white;
But our ocean-faring barque
Still drifts gently to the Dark.
Dark of Dreams, or harbor-gleams,
Sweeter still the voyage seems.

II.

Life of sorrows, joys and fears,
We have known the Gift of Tears;
Love, the lingering—kindly wise,
Love shall kiss our dreaming eyes,
Shadowed dreams, or harbor-gleams,
Sweeter still the voyage seems.

* * * * *

Only Way Out of It.

"What would you do ef you wuz 'twixt Satan an' de deep sea, an' you couldn't swim a lick?"

"I'd hol' my groun', suh,—I'd hol' my groun'!"

"But s'pose a yethquake swallowed de groun'?"

"Dar you goes," said Brother Williams, "huntin' fer mo' trouble! Fer de Lawd sake, ef you ain't got no faith in Providence, keep yo' ole mouth shet!"

* * * * *

Beggared.

I.

Blizzard, straining your wild throat,
Cold as cold can be,
Do you want this ragged coat—
All that covers me?
Will it ease your wrath today
Just to blow these rags away?

II.

Keep your voice at highest pitch:
I am poor and lone;
Storm the mansions of the Rich—
Rags are all I own!
Yet your bitter task today
Is to blow even these away!

* * * * *

Their First Time in Town.

This story is credited to The Iola Register. That paper "hears that the soldiers Zapata took into Mexico City had never been 'to town' before. They saw a fire engine coming down the street, and, taking it for some new kind of artillery, opened fire on it, killing eleven of the firemen. Of course, they apologized handsomely when they found out their mistake and that made it all right with everybody but the dead firemen—and even they did not complain."

* * * * *

A Fabulous Demand.

This is the view of The Dalton Citizen's "Printer-Poet" of the probable war situation:

"When the war which is raging is ended
And hushed is the cannon's mad roar,
And the damage begins to be mended

THE FAR-OFF CALL.

If out beyond the city's farthest edge
There were no roads that led through sleepy towns,
No winds to blow through any thorny hedge,
No pathways over hazel tufted downs,
I might not, when the day begins, be sad
Because I toil among the money mad.

If out beyond the distant hill there lay
No valley graced by any winding stream,
And if no slim, white steeples far away
Might mark the spots where drowsy hamlets dream,
I could, perhaps, at mid-day be content
Where striving millions at their tasks are bent.

If far away from noise and strife and care
There were no buds to swell no waiting trees,
No mating birds to spill upon the air
The liquid sweetness of their melodies,
I might, at sunset, be serene and proud
Because a few had seen me in the crowd.

The Holland Letter

Many times since the date for the opening of the federal reserve banking system was announced, and especially since the day when the system began operation, the remark has been made to the present writer by some of those who are familiar with the new organization that there should be good understanding with the public of the distinction between money panics and business panics and business distress. There seems to prevail, it was said, an idea that the new federal reserve system will make all kinds of panic hereafter impossible. But there are panics of two kinds, the characteristics of which are illustrated by the panic of 1893 and the panic of 1907 on the one hand and what is sometimes called the silent or rich man's panic of 1902. In 1893, business distress prevailed and the number of bankruptcies was appalling, but there was no money panic until it became evident that unless the treasury department at Washington was able to protect its gold the treasury would lapse to an exclusive silver basis. Then began the money or currency panic. It was characterized by an extraordinary hoarding of money. The banks practically suspended cash payments. This was coincident with, but only indirectly a part of, the business prostration.

In 1907, another currency panic began, and of such extraordinary character that, while many banks throughout the country were constantly increasing their reserve, until in some cases these were three or four times greater than the amount commanded by law, nevertheless the banks would not pay out cash except under compulsion, but resorted to various devices, principally the issuing of clearing house certificates and the provision that all checks drawn upon banks should be paid through the clearing house—that is to say, by an exchange of credit. Yet at that time business in the United States was fairly good, and the prospects were excellent for steady increase in domestic industry of all kinds.

On the other hand, in 1902 there was a commercial panic, made evident by the unprecedented depreciation in the market value of securities. The common stock of the United States Steel corporation was quoted at a little under 10, and there were a number of venturesome persons who took a chance that the stock would go lower, and bought heavily of it. Within a few years that stock was quoted as high as 90. There was no panic at that time, but instead grievous demoralization in the securities market.

What Reserve System Can Do.

The national banking system which is now in operation can make money or currency panic practically impossible, but it cannot, excepting to a limited extent, prevent that kind of business demoralization which follows overexpansion. This is the point which has been frequently made by those who are competent to explain the new federal reserve system, but not until within a few days has it been authoritatively and officially asserted. The address—which was practically informal—that was made by Charles S. Hamlin, the titular head of the federal reserve board at Washington, to the members of the chamber of commerce at a recent meeting was in considerable part devoted to an exposition of this subject. Mr. Hamlin, from long experience in the treasury department and in other governmental service, was thoroughly qualified for service upon the new federal reserve board. That opinion was expressed with unanimity in this city when his appointment by President Wilson was made public. Therefore all that he had to say was listened to with keen interest.

The relation of the federal reserve system to panic-staying power was the theme of Mr. Hamlin's informal remarks. He, too, has observed, as many others have done, that an opinion commonly prevails that the new banking system, to use his words, "will regulate panics to obscurity." In the sense that the new banking system can make money panics practically impossible, that statement, Mr. Hamlin asserted, is undoubtedly a correct one. But it is impossible for any banking system completely to control a disposition of business men as a whole unduly to expand their business and to speculate, using that word in the technical meaning which commonly appertains to it.

If All Were Members.

Probably if all banks, including those operating under state charters, were members of the federal reserve system the American banks as a whole would have it within their power to check somewhat a disposition unwisely to expand commercial undertakings. There was a clear intimation in Mr. Hamlin's remark that this is one of the reasons why the federal reserve board believes that it will be of the highest advantage to the country if the state-chartered institutions become as rapidly as possible members of the federal reserve district.

One of the remarks made by Mr. Hamlin has been taken up and discussed with approval in the financial district. He stated that there was one kind of panic which he believes the new federal reserve system will relegate to the museum which contains unhappy traditions of the past. That is the panic which formerly was forced by the action of various national banks. The managers of these banks began to get nervous. They began to call loans and then refused to extend loans or to make new ones. They began to hoard and in that way built up unreasonably large reserves. Fierce competition began between bank and bank and the public, which is quick to scent a disposition of that kind, took fright, so that there began to be individual hoardings which in the aggregate reached a large sum. There died recently in a suburb of New York a merchant of wealth, and it was discovered by the administrators of his estate that he had been hoarding an amount estimated to be at about one-half of the aggregate value of his estate. He had had an unpleasant experience with a bank. He became suspicious, and as rapidly as possible withdrew deposits in various banks and placed the cash in his safe-deposit vault. Under the new system this cannot happen. For there can be speedy mobilization of reserves and far-reaching utilization of commercial paper so that liquid capital will be provided wherever needed.

The comment which this statement of Mr. Hamlin has caused is this: There could not be a better proof offered of the fact that in spirit and in operation the federal reserve system is based upon the principle of the central bank, although at present this central bank is divided into twelve branches, all under the control of the federal reserve board at Washington. There continues to grow the impression that after a few years' experience with the new system congress will find it expedient to modify or to amend the law so as actually to establish at Washington a central reserve bank.

God's Republic.

Oh, dark as death o'er half the world a ghastly twilight falls;
Fast following the savage guns, vulture to vulture calls.
Now one by one the nations feel the frozen claws of fear;
Only in God's Republic does the day dawn sweet and clear.

In flowery France the lilies die, beat down by mad hussars;
The Flemish minsters point no more to the great friendly stars.
The Pomeranian lands lie waste—o'er half the world is night,
In God's Republic all the fields are to the harvest white!

In God's Republic blooms the rose, and little children play,
The engine laughs, the motor sings, thro' all the peaceful day.
So let it be, let thrones go down, let kings find endless sleep,
O men and masters, may we well our ancient altars keep!

And if by chance in other lands, 'mid smoke of death and doubt,
Quenched by that awful tide of blood, the lamp of faith goes out,
Here shall we guard the sacred flame for millions yet to be;
Thank God for His Republic—the steadfast and the free!

GOOD TIME TO PUT UP STREET SIGNS, HE SAYS

Editor Constitution: Please suggest to the city fathers that they give employment to unemployed at a job of putting up street signs at street corners throughout the city. Many a time have I hunted and retraced my steps, or drive, and then hunted a neighbor to tell me where the street was I was seeking.

Yours truly,
E. C. CARTLEDGE.

SAYS STATE SHOULD PAY FOR WORK OF CONVICTS

Editor Constitution: Our sins of omission are often as great as those of commission. Many of us that would view with horror the participation in profits derived from child labor, little think that because of our inactivity we are only in degree less guilty than those mill owners who employ the children forced to work because of our present penal system, under which the state, which means each one of us, takes from these children those on whom they are dependent for support, putting them at work and keeping the profits of their labor from those to whom it legitimately belongs.

I have before me a letter from the semi-helpless daughter of a Methodist minister, herself the mother of four daughters from 4 to 16 years old, with an aged, blind mother, a widow, practically helpless, whose husband is now in the penitentiary, and the profits of whose labors are now being used by the state instead of being applied to the support of those who are forced to apply to others for help. For no fault of theirs, but because of our being willing to allow prison labor to remain without compensation, these unfortunate ones are now suffering for the necessities of life, while we, just because these things are not brought to our immediate notice, are made participants not only in the profits from child labor, but from convict labor as well.

It is time the world was waking up to the fact that we are our brother's keeper and to see that it is not doing unto others as we would have them do unto us when we take from the helpless their means of support and provide nothing for them.

W. J. GOVAN.

DOVER.

BY GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Dover is the great channel gateway of England. It is opposite Calais, France, and is the point at which the American tourist bids goodby to his native language and departs boldly for a country where he will have to communicate with the natives by shrugging his shoulders in all their various inflections.

Dover is only an hour from France by channel steamer, but it is upward of 500 years distant from a hostile army. Since William the Conqueror landed a few miles west of Dover in 1066, no one has made the 18-mile crossing with hostile intent. Large numbers of the enemy have gotten within sight of the town, but they have invariably met an English battleship and have been compelled to swim home.

Dover is a city of 50,000 people situated under the great chalk cliffs of the English coast and in a valley between two great hills. There is a castle and a lighthouse built by the Romans but repaired since then, on one hill and a citadel on the other. Below the cliffs is a fine harbor full of mines and ready to receive German warships with marked hospitality. Hidden away in the cliffs in caverns are countless big guns also ready to assist in the entertainment. Even in times of peace Dover is so full of British soldiers that the landscape has a scarlet tinge.

Dover was a favorite Roman port 1800 years ago and had a fort in the fourth century. Later on it was one of the Cinque ports which furnished the ships to defend the English channel and in return got so many privileges that there was a waiting list of Englishmen who aspired to become residents of the towns. The last important attempt to enter Dover without the consent of the customs authorities or the navy took place in 1217 when the French fleet was captured, the common sailors thrown overboard and the knights brought into town and sold back to France for a handsome ransom.

"The point at which the American tourist bids goodby to his native language."

Since that day Dover has led a comparatively quiet life. Its amusements have been watching the tourists and the athletes who attempt each year to swim the English channel. It has been preparing for another battle very earnestly during all these 700 years, and it now looks as if its watchful waiting might be rewarded.

Our Humane Century.

(From The New York Mail.)

It is a good point that is brought out in Herbert C. Fyfe's book, "Submarine Warfare," in connection with Robert Fulton's invention of the torpedo. Everybody knows that Fulton invented the torpedo, and offered it to the British and French governments, but both of them rejected it because of its barbarity.

A writer in The Naval Chronicle of that time stigmatized Fulton's schemes for torpedoes and submarine boats as "revolting to every noble principle, their projector as a crafty, murderous ruffian and his patrons as openly stooping from their lofty stations to superintend the construction of such detestable machines, that promised destruction to maritime establishments."

But that was in the early days of the nineteenth century. It took the humane and enlightened twentieth century to see the full and glorious application of this wonderful invention!

With the Exchanges

A WAR MINSTREL.

(From The New York Sun.)

The role that the minstrel Taillefer played at Hastings, that Roland took at Roncevaux and Blondel filled when he found the imprisoned Richard Coeur de Lion in an Austrian castle is being played in the present war by Theodore Botrel, the Breton poet, who has been sent to the fighting line by M. Millerand, the minister of war, to sing and recite patriotic and warlike chansons to the French soldiers, to inspire them to mighty deeds.

For the last two months or more the picturesque Breton singer, with his sleek hair, his wide hatbrim, his flying ribbon and voluminous velvet breeches, looking for all the world like the painted figure on a piece of Breton pottery, has been traveling, staff in hand, from camp to camp, entertaining the fighting men of France with stirring ballads. Botrel's work smacks of ancient warfare and its customs more even than the breastplates, hand grenades and spears which have proved their value on several occasions. No one knows who thought of the plan, but, at any rate, M. Millerand put it into effect, and Botrel has made a great impression upon the French armies.

The soldiers are gathered together in a big hall, an impromptu and generally insecure platform is rigged up and Botrol stands forth to recite his songs, some in the Breton dialect, others in French, but all touched with the lyric flame that carries simple words and simple thoughts straight to the hearts of the hearers.

Botrel's inspiration is not of the kind that soars high and far, but here face to face with the troops who are bearing themselves so gallantly in the east, he has found again the fire of his earlier days and the flame of patriotism burns bright and strong in these metrical chants which he utters with a touching simplicity and childlike earnestness.

"COME UP ON DECK AND DIE."

(Gerald Stanley, in The Mount Tom Magazine.)

Three hundred million men down in the holds of seven nations where they could not see for themselves what was going on above them and ahead of them have been suddenly shouted to by a few men on deck to come up and die. They came up sincerely and are dying in good faith.

We would do the same ourselves.

But they would not have done it if they had not been down in dark holes and taken unawares, under the necessity of acting before they had time to think for themselves.

So at last we are having, as on some huge world movie screen where ninety nations watch, history's last look at what war really is.

It is the essential nature of militarism that people shall be kept in holes where they cannot see and that they shall be ready to die when the order is shouted down to them.

INTERESTING BITS.

(From The Chicago News.)

Near Jelfa, Algeria, is to be seen a mountain of rock salt 300 feet in height and nearly a mile in diameter. Two other hills of this character are known in Algeria, both being near Biskra, and in all cases the salt is surrounded by Triassic marls and clays. A curious feature of the Jelfa hill is the fact that in spite of the very soluble character of the material composing it it stands up in high relief from the surrounding clay and contains no valleys or other sign of erosion.

Should a mechanical cotton picker recently invented prove practical, it will revolutionize the industry in this country. It is a huge contrivance, driven by one man, much as an automobile is operated, and claim is made that it will pick 95 per cent of the cotton without injury to the unripe bolls or the plants.

This country now owns 8,000 islands, supporting a population of 10,000,000. The commerce of these islands exceeds $30,000,000, or more than that of the United States in any year prior to 1850.

AN IMPRESSION OF GORKY.

(From The Craftsman.)

"Once when I was singing in Nijni early in the morning," said Chaliapine, Russia's greatest singer, "I looked out and saw Gorky standing at a window in the same hotel, and gazing silently over the city. The sun was shining on the towers of the churches, over the silver river and turning the roofs red. 'You are up early,' I said. 'Yes,' he answered. 'Come in my room for a moment.' When I reached his window I saw that he had tears in his eyes, and I did not understand. 'Look,' he said to me, 'how beautiful it is. Just the world and not a human being anywhere. The humanity which has made its gods and its laws, built its houses and its churches, all asleep and helpless as children, powerless to change or adjust all this that it has made.'

"He spoke very softly and very sweetly, and, for the moment, he seemed to me the most perfect human being in the world. Truly one of Russia's flowers of genius."

QUEER CHRISTMAS TREES.

(From a Twin Falls (Idaho) Dispatch.)

Twin Falls is to have its second municipal Christmas tree this year. The first was eleven years ago, when, on the first Christmas on the tract, then nothing but a sagebrush plain, the residents secured the largest brush they could find, about six feet high, and placed it in the biggest building they had, a kind of a shed.

Being far from any mountains where real Christmas trees can be found, Twin Falls will have a made-to-order one. The top will be a real tree perched on a telegraph pole. Smaller trees, shipped in, will be stripped and the firemen will make a tree from these boughs, using the telegraph pole as a foundation.

THE PROPHETS OF EVIL.

(From The Sterling City News-Record.)

Don't take any stock in the man who goes about predicting that the end of time is at hand, for he is a pessimist, his liver is out of order and he needs strong medicine. Put your faith in the man who preaches the doctrine of the rainbow and sunshine, harvest and seedtime. Pin your faith to him who reads the Bible as a promise instead of a threat and your life will be brighter, and when you come to die, you will be glad that you harvested the honey from the flowers of life which God put here for your reaping.

BROUGHT HOME.

(From The Minnesota Minnehaha.)

A party of tourists were going through a small town, having the time of their lives, laughing and joking. One of them thought she would have some fun, and called to a little girl standing near, "Are there any shows in town?" To which the little girl answered, Only the one you people are making."

ALL TO THE GOOD.

TWENTY INDICTMENTS AGAINST SUTTLES

Well-Known Deputy Sheriff Is Charged With Complicity in the Bond Scandal.

Twenty indictments charging bond forgery and seven charging bribery were returned by the grand jury yesterday against Deputy Sheriff John Suttles in the most startling turn that has yet been taken by the jury's investigation of the notorious bond scandal that has agitated courthouse circles for months.

Suttles was put under bond of $1,000 on the forgery indictments and under $1,000 for bribery. Judge John T. Pendleton, in an open address following the jury's action, scored the indicted deputy, and declared that he should be relieved of all official duties until his time of trial.

Suttles will hold a conference with Sheriff Mangum, after which it is reported he will be suspended until he is arraigned in superior court on trial for the indictments.

The jury did not stop at the indictments of Suttles. They returned forgery indictments against Emmett Blount a young lawyer, whose name has hitherto been unconnected with the bond scandal, and against Charles Hillyer, the lawyer who is already under indictment for bond swindling. Additional indictments were also returned against Harry Latham, the former court deputy, who is already under bond of $2,000.

Suttles is one of the best known deputy sheriffs in the city. For years he has been on night duty in the Tower, and has a wide acquaintance. He made sweeping denials of all charges.

Three indictments charging false-swearing in connection with the bond indictments were also presented against J. R. Hall and J. D. Love, negroes, who are charged with being implicated in the alleged "bond syndicate." All indictments, some fifty or more, that have been returned during the two months' investigation by the grand jury, were the result of the vigorous crusade waged by Solicitor Dorsey against an alleged band of bond crooks who infested the courthouse, Tower and police headquarters.

First Social Session Of This Winter Held By the Atlanta Elks

Atlanta lodge of Elks gave its first social session of the season Thursday night. The beautiful lodgeroom was packed with members of the order.

After a business meeting and initiation was held the brothers repaired to the banquet hall, where delightful refreshments were served. They afterwards returned to the lodgeroom, where the social session was held. Artists from the different theaters in the city entertained and, in turn, were also entertained by the Elks. It was indeed a most enjoyable affair, and the true Elk spirit prevailed. The Christmas charity fund was swelled considerably and plans laid for systematic work in this line.

On Friday evening, December 18, the Elks' ball will be held at the home, and all Elks in good standing and visiting brothers are invited to come. The affair will be informal and refreshments will be served.

BEAVERS SAYS MOVIES ARE CAUSE OF CRIME

The wild western movie drama, depicting crime, murder, highway robberies and burglaries, according to Chief of Police James L. Beavers, is largely responsible for the wave of crime which has wept over Atlanta during the last few weeks.

Chief Beavers especially directed his verbal attack at the negro moving picture shows on Peters and Decatur streets, where, he said, all kinds of "breezy" pictures, designed to inflame the minds of youths, are shown.

It is likely that a censorship of these movie shows will follow.

ENGINEERS MEET TO ELECT 1915 OFFICERS

The Atlanta chapter of the Engineering Association of the South held its annual meeting Thursday night at the Carnegie library. A number of matters of interest to the association were passed on and the following members elected officers for the coming year: President, L. W. Thatcher; first vice president, R. M. Walker; second vice president, A. P. McClellan; secretary and treasurer, Lodowick J. Hill, Jr. It was the generally expressed opinion of the officers and members of the association that the year 1915 would be one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

BACKBONE OF COLD HAS BEEN BROKEN

Ah, 'tis the weather man who furnishes encouraging news. He avers that the backbone of the cold wave that has prevailed for the past two days and nights will be broken by this morning, and that Atlanta will bask for the next few days in pleasant weather.

Southerly winds and an abundance of sunshine will start the mercury on the upward path before noon this morning, and all today and Sunday are predicted to be fair and comforting.

FUNERAL OF ALSOP WILL BE CONDUCTED IN PITTSBURG TODAY

The funeral of Harold Alsop, the younger of the two sons of Edward Alsop, of Pittsburg, and brother of Edward H. Alsop, of Atlanta, will take place in Pittsburg this morning, interment in the old family burying ground.

The death of Mr. Alsop came as a shock to his family and to his many friends in Atlanta. His first visit here was a year ago, when he was best man at the wedding of his brother, Edward Alsop, to Miss Eula Jackson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Jackson, of Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Alsop were north on a visit and had expected to spend their anniversary with his father and brother in Pittsburg when called to Washington ten days ago by the sudden illness of Harold Alsop. An operation for appendicitis was performed, and for several days every hope for Mr. Alsop's recovery was entertained. A turn for the worse came suddenly Tursday, and he died in Washington city.

He was a graduate of Yale, and had a large number of friends not only among his college mates but in Pittsburg, where his family has been a prominent one for many generations, and in Atlanta, where his brother has become a resident and popular citizen.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alsop will return to Atlanta after the funeral, and will be accompanied by the former's father, who is completely prostrated by the death of his son.

THIS WILD WOMAN IS A MAN, POLICE ARE TOLD

observe in this iron-clad inclosure the most murderous of human beings. Telca, the Aztec maiden who would eat 'em alive if she had 'em alive to eat. Kindly take notice of the steel-riveted locks and chains that fetter her to captivity and prevent her from satisfying her insatiable thirst for human blood from the living veins of some of you pleasure-seekers who stand around Telca's cage at this very moment.

"She is as inhuman as the hideous bark you hear her utter every now and then. She worships no religion, knows no master, seeks nothing but human blood. She was captured less than ten months ago in a cave off the storm-swept deserts outlying Sonora, Mexico. Her captivity did not come about without a struggle. She was tearing into shreds the flesh of her captor when five bullet wounds and a rawhide lass subdued her."

And that's a word-picture of Telca. If you were to see Telca, you'd recognize her (?) in a crowd without fail. She (?) looks mannish, barks mannishly, and the only thing feminine about her (?) are her (?) skirts.

Scandal Is Spread.

It befell a certain troubadour traveling with the same show to cast the shadow of scandal upon the fair name of Telca, Thursday. He not only said that Telca was not that kind of wild girl, but added that she was not a girl at all. He said that, when the show was over each night, Telca was unchained and set to work sweeping the floors and doing odd jobs about the building, chiefly carpentering, as Telca "was a good carpenter, as show carpenters go."

This troubadour was Jack Wingate, banjo artist, who demanded his salary from the World show management, and says he never got it. Troubadour Wingate sat upon the exhibition stand out front and did a banjo ballyhoo to attract the crowds. He considered himself too much of an artist to submit to a cut in salary and a week's failure of salary at the same time.

Thursday morning he took out a laborer's lien against F. S. Walton and C. F. Hamilton, managers. Thomas Goodwin, candidate for recorder in the recent primary, was retained as counsel. To Lawyer Goodwin the troubled troubadour told his tale of woe. Lawyer Goodwin proceeded with him to Mayor Woodward's office. Mayor Woodward "passed the buck" to Chief Beavers, and the chief and his own Anthony Comstock proceeded to investigate Telca and her (?) co-freaks.

They took one look at the snarling Telca, heard Pete Gonzales' hair-raising lecture, and said that if people wanted to pay a dime to see Telca, it wasn't any of their official business to prohibit it. Telca snarled and barked a speech of thanks.

But the World shows were not out of trouble, at that. Two bailiffs came down from the courthouse Thursday morning to levy upon something in the building that was worth $21, or thereabouts. They looked over the freaks, finally cast their official eyes upon Lula Belle, an ostrich.

Lula Belle Defiant.

Lula Belle was in a most uncongenial mood, having failed to receive her customary breakfast of nails, the hardware store next door being out of the particular sort of nails she chooses. When Bailiff W. H. Mills moved with Bailiff Jim Head to levy upon Lula Belle, that elongated creature cast a Maud-like eye in their direction, shifted her right leg into firing position and squawked a defy that even two courthouse bailiffs could understand.

The hostile bailiffs deployed and conferred. Then they consulted with Managers Walton and Hamilton.

"Listen, Mister," they said; "we don't want that ostrich thing half as bad as we thought. We'll reduce your bond to $14 if you'll give us the cash and keep that animal."

The cash was produced, whereupon the bailiffs departed, ostrichless, upon their return to the courthouse.

A. T. O. Frat Meets.

SCOUT CAR IS HERE, READY FOR BIG TOUR

Will Boost Proposed Highway From South Bend, Ind., to Jacksonville, Fla.

The scout car for the big tour planned in the spring to boost the proposed new highway from South Bend, Ind., to Jacksonville, Fla., via Atlanta, has arrived in Atlanta, in charge of H. M. McDermid, of Indianapolis, one of the leading members of the Hoosier Motor club, of that city, which was the prime mover in the highway plan.

Mr. McDermid stated that for the most part he found good roads until he hit Kentucky, Tennessee and north Georgia, where he found many very bad stretches.

This, however, he said will not prevent the big tour, which The Constitution and the Hoosier club have been boosting, from starting as soon as the winter weather moderates somewhat.

He declared that the motorists of the Hoosier State are immensely interested in the plan and show great curiosity regarding the south.

He announced that a conference of the governors of the states through which the highway will pass, namely, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida, has been called to meet in Chattanooga, January 11, when the plan for the highway will be worked out. Most of the governors, he said, have already signified their intention of attending.

PACIFIC UNGUARDED, SAYS SEC. DANIELS

we were to have trouble with any nation we would send a fleet through the Panama canal.

"You do not think any very material damage could be done before the fleet could arrive on the Pacific coast from the Atlantic coast?"

Reason for Building Canal.

"I think the odds are the other way. One of the reasons, perhaps a chief reason, why we built the Panama canal was to make it possible to have a fleet to defend both coasts."

"Have we a fleet sufficient to defend both coasts?"

"Yes sir, altogether sufficient to defend both coasts."

"But it cannot defend both coasts?"

"Not at the same time, but there is hardly a possibility of our being attacked on both sides at once."

"An enemy," he added, "has got to run the gantlet of our submarines in the Philippines and Hawaii and we could delay them a good deal with the fleet we have there now until the real large fleet comes. It would take about eighteen days, roughly, for the fleet to go from New York to San Francisco, provided the canal is open and unobstructed."

"Do you think the submarines now in the Philippines would offer any serious hindrance to the navy in the Pacific ocean attacking us?"

"We are going to send more over there and we are asking for more now."

Asked if he agreed with the recommendation of Captain Bristol, in charge of aviation, for a $1,000,000 appropriation for airships, the secretary said that was not too much, as the airship situation stands."

Captain Bristol had advised the committee that, from the best information available the United States had only 22 aeroplanes, including those privately owned, while France had approximately 22 dirigibles and 1,400 aeroplanes; Russia 18 dirigibles and 800 aeroplanes; Great Britain 9 dirigible and 400 aeroplanes, and Germany 40 dirigibles and 1,000 aeroplanes. Secretary Daniels said the difficulty in this country was that manufacturers had not yet made an aircraft suitable for the navy. Chairman Padgett intimated that the committee might later add a substantial sum to the navy bill to provide for airship development.

"If congress should pass a bill to provide a considerable increase in the number of submarines, you'd be glad of it, wouldn't you?" he was asked.

"Yes, if it wouldn't interfere with our program. I wouldn't advocate, however, an extravagant increase of submarines."

He advised against building any more sea-going submarines than the one authorized last year and the one asked this winter.

"The sea-going submarine," he added, "is still an experiment.

"We have tried to get a satisfactory type of air craft and have failed," the secretary said, adding that the United States is only at the commencement of air craft development. Contracts for air craft had been made in Germany and France. He agreed that it looked as if the United States would have to organize a department of aviation "and build our own machines."

TWO DREADNAUGHTS URGED BY DANIELS.

Washington, December 11.—Startling successes of submarines in the European war have not swayed United States navy officials from their belief that all-big-gun battleships of the dreadnaught type form the main dependence of any sea power. The construction of two such ships next year was recommended by Secretary Daniels in his annual report, submitted today to President Wilson. The navy general board urged the building of four.

The complete building program for the coming year recommended by Secretary Daniels comprises:

Two dreadnaughts, six destroyers, eight or more submarines, one to be a large, sea-going craft and the others of smaller size for coast defense operations; one gunboat and one fuel oil ship.

If this program is followed out, Mr. Daniels says, "the increase will be noteworthy and will give us a well-rounded navy, equal, if not superior, to that of any navy in the world, ship for ship and man for man."

Secretary Daniels' program, he states, follows the policy of the general board recommendations, but reduces the number of ships of each class asked for. The board recommended the construction of the following as the 1916 program:

Four dreadnaughts, sixteen destroyers, three sea-going submarines, sixteen coast defense submarines, four scout cruisers, four gunboats, two fuel ships, one destroyer tender, one submarine tender, one navy transport, one hospital ship, one supply ship and a $5,000,000 appropriation for navy aircraft. The board was acting on its policy looking to the completion in 1919 of a fleet, the main line of which would be forty-eight battleships. In its report, transmitted by the secretary, it is stated that the present situation of the battleship fleet is ten ships behind that program, the total of those in commission, under construction and authorized for completion in 1919 being thirty-seven.

influence of a number of insurance men who went to work in the interest of the inspector.

Mayor and Otis Enemies.

Political enmity between the mayor and the fire inspector is given as the reason for the fight to oust Otis, but Mayor Woodward denies that he allowed politics to influence him. He stated that Otis has not been doing his duty as inspector, and he caused a committee composed of Councilmen Farlinger, Lee and Reynolds to make an investigation. As the result of the inspection of the records kept by Inspector Otis, the committee split on its report. Councilman Reynolds recommended that a new system of keeping records of inspections be inaugurated. Councilmen Lee and Farlinger joined in a report urging that Otis be relieved of his place as inspector, but recommended that he be given a position of lesser importance with the department.

Chief Cummings opposed the removal of the inspector. He said Friday that since the board saw fit to reduce Otis it is possible that he will be given a position paying about $80 a month.

Mayor Woodward has also declared himself as being opposed to keeping Otis in the department. Before adjournment of the meeting, he said:

"I don't think a man of the type of Otis should be kept in any department of the city."

The mayor would not enter into a discussion of his differences with the inspector.

May Disregard Chief.

It is regarded as certain that the fire board will disregard Chief Cummings' recommendation in the matter of electing a successor to Inspector Otis. The chief has not intimated whom he will nominate for the place. On the other hand, Councilman Lee will probably offer the name of Captain Clowe. The captain is at the head of fire company No. 5, and his present salary is larger than the salary he would receive as fire inspector. Captain Clowe is one of the older men of the department, and is in line for a pension.

Mayor Woodward and other members of the fire board take the position that the place of fire inspector should be given to an old member of the department for the reason that there is but little work connected with the place.

JIM PREAS IS REINSTATED

EDITED BY DICK JEMISON.

S. I. A. A. Reinstates Preas But Asks That He Relinquish Tech Scholarship

Joke Is That He Had None to Relinquish—Tech Will Not Return to the S. I. A. A.

Lexington, Ky., December 11.—The executive committee of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association, meeting here today, reinstated J. H. Preas, a student of the Georgia School of Technology at Atlanta, on condition that he surrender a scholarship which he now holds. Preas is an all-around athlete and has been under suspension because of alleged violation of the association's eligibility requirements.

A. M. Sikes, a student of Vanderbilt university at Nashville, Tenn., who also was under suspension during a part of the last football season because of alleged violation of eligibility rules, but who was later allowed to play on the Vanderbilt eleven, was found not guilty in a formal statement issued by the committee tonight. Sikes was charged with playing summer baseball outside of his home county.

PREAS DOES NOT HOLD A SCHOLARSHIP NOW.

The joke seems to be on the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association.

He did hold one during the school year starting in the fall of 1913 and ending with the commencement the past June, but he voluntarily relinquished that before the present school term.

The S. I. A. A. has been wondering how Tech could withdraw from the association and make a go of it, and they are surprised that the Jackets were so successful during the past football season, with prospects of having even greater success during the coming year in all branches of sports.

TECH IS PERMANENTLY OUT OF S. I. A. A. RANKS.

Georgia Tech is permanently out of Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association ranks. You can stick a pin in that.

Dr. Matheson and Coach Heisman were non-committal on the subject when quizzed last night.

Dr. Matheson, when asked if Tech would ask reinstatement at the meeting, said: "We have not considered the matter in any phase."

Interpreting this in its most liberal construction one is forced to arrive at but one conclusion. Tech is very well content outside of the association, so why re-enter it?

The association has never done anything for Tech. The Jackets got on very well outside of its pale during the past football season and will probably do as well, if not better, next season.

The Jackets are free to sign with any teams outside of the association without forcing those teams to subscribe to the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association rules, and the Jackets have the whip hand on the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association.

Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association teams want games in Atlanta from a financial standpoint. All branches of athletics pay well played in Atlanta. The Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association colleges know this and Tech's affiliations with practically every school in the association are so cordial that they are certain to continue to get games with them.

CONSTITUTION STARTED FIGHT FOR JIM PREAS.

To The Constitution belongs the majority of the credit for the reinstatement of Preas. This paper waged a strenuous fight for the Tech star, believing that he had been done a grave injustice, and he had.

Ammie Sikes, the Vanderbilt captain, was reinstated on the eve of the North Carolina game, October 24. The reinstatement was carried in the press the morning of the game.

The next day, in the issue of Sunday, October 25, The Constitution carried a story with a two-column headline, "Ammie Sikes Ruled Eligible; Why Not Preas, of Jackets?" in which issue was taken with the executive committee on its ruling.

The Constitution thus fired the first gun of the campaign.

Later we predicted that Preas would be reinstated at the December meeting, it having been tentatively promised that he would be." The action taken by the executive committee fulfilled our predictions and justified our fight.

AMENDMENT PROPOSED TO CONSTITUTION.

Lexington, Ky., September 11.—An amendment to the association's constitution providing that members be prohibited from playing any institution of similar rank in the territory embraced in the organization and not a member was proposed at a session tonight. It cannot be acted upon before the 1915 annual meeting.

JIM PREAS,
Tech's all-around athlete, who was reinstated on the recommendation of the executive committee of the S. I. A. A. Friday.

An application for membership from Transylvania university here was favorably acted upon. It was also announced that Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college had withdrawn from the association.

The executive committee forever disqualified Player Joplin, of the University of Alabama, from participation in athletics in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association.

TECH CLASSES PLAY FOOTBALL TODAY

Freshmen Meet Juniors and and Seniors Tackle Subs.

The inter-class football season at Tech will be opened this afternoon with games between the freshmen and the juniors and between the seniors and the subs.

The first game, the freshmen-junior, will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend the games. There will not be any admission charges.

Pappas and Herman To Make Ringside Weight for Battle

Kid Herman and Jimmy Pappas, rivals in next Tuesday night's bantamweight clash at the Bijou theater, will make 116 pounds, ringside, for their big battle. Mike Saul has made arrangements to have the scales brought into the theater, so the public can see that the boys have made the required poundage.

Red Walsh, manager of Herman, and John Alex, who looks after Pappas, held a conference with Mike Saul yesterday, which ended when Saul insisted that the boxers make the ringside weight.

The weight that the boys are to make —116 pounds— is the real bantamweight figure. This makes the bout a title affair, as Herman has been king of the southern bantams for some time.

The boys will wind up their hard work today. Pappas has already been at work for two weeks, while Herman has been training about ten days. He worked in Hot Springs and New Orleans before finishing his training here.

Sunday and Monday Herman and Pappas say they will do just enough light work to keep on edge.

Promoter Mike Saul announces that the tickets are going unusually fast. The pasteboards can be purchased at the Rex, Tumlin Bros. and Chess' place. The seats sell for 50 cents up to $2, ringside. The first ten rows on the main floor sell for $1.50. The remainder of the first floor sells for $1. All these seats are reserved.

SPARTANBURG FIVE TO PLAY LOCALS

Second Basketball Game of the Season Will Occur at the Atlanta Athletic Club Tonight.

The Y. M. C. A. quintet of Spartanburg, S. C., will be the attraction tonight at the Athletic club, in the second basketball game of the season. The game will commence promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

The five from Spartanburg is reputed to be a strong aggregation, and have several stars on their line-up. The two Erwin boys, who played such good basketball against the local club last year, while on the Clemson five, are on this team this season, and are even better than last year. It will be remembered that John Erwin, playing at forward last year, scored 26 of the 30 points his team made last year against the local club. He is playing center on the Spartanburg team. Little is known about the rest of the team, as this is their first engagement here in several years.

The local team is in good condition for the battle, and are all in good shape after the game with Chattanooga last week.

The game commences promptly at 8:15, and a dance will follow.

The line-up the two teams will use is as follows:

| ATLANTA. | Positions. | SPART'B'G. |
|---|---|---|
| Smith | L. F. | James Erwin |
| Forbes | R. F. | Vogel |
| Dubard | C. | John Erwin |
| Weaver | L. G. | Hallman |
| Ed Carter | R. G. | Duncan |

COPPER COMPANY SUED BY ORCHARD GROWERS

Two north Georgia orchard growers and large landowners of Gilmer county brought an action in the federal court Friday against the Ducktown plant of the Tennessee Copper company, situated just across the Tennessee line, claiming that the fumes from that plant were ruining their apple and cherry trees and injuring their trucking produce.

Several shares of stock of the Shippen Brothers Lumber company were recently attached by Mr. Hill.

SOUTHERN BELL SAFE ROBBED IN MARIETTA

Sheriff Hicks, of Cobb county, reported to the Atlanta police last night that the safe in the office of the Southern Bell Telephone at Marietta was broken into and robbed Thursday night through the nitroglycerin process. Two young white men of this city, said to have operated extensively in this line during the last year, are suspected. Sergeant Bullard and Lieutenant Shaw, of the plain clothes squad, are working on the case.

She realizes keenly that the formation of a correct reading habit now will go far toward fitting them mentally to cope with the future.

While THE LITERARY DIGEST is read weekly by nearly a million "grown-ups" it is especially welcome in homes where there are young folks, for it answers the countless "whys" of youth—the questions that they are always asking about the great events in the world about them, and which parents would not be able to answer so well without its aid.

And the young folks are not only delighted—they thrive mentally.

It is not "dry" or "heavy" reading for the youthful mind, for the DIGEST presents all the news of the world except the vicious and morbid, and explains the facts in the news in clean language and graphic pictures.

THE LITERARY DIGEST encourages young people (and "grown-ups" too, for that matter) to think for themselves, to form impartial and correct judgment on live subjects, because while all the facts from all sides are presented, there is no editorial attempt to color or bias them.

Ask any school-teacher anywhere and he or she will be sure to agree that "bright" children are the rule in homes where the DIGEST is a weekly visitor. Reading it enables them to take a respectful and intelligent part in discussions—at school, at home, anywhere.

Give your children access to this incomparable weekly and watch how quickly their school reports will commence to hug the 100% mark.

BONDS AND STOCKS SHOWED FIRMNESS

Reopening of Stock Exchange Saturday Caused a Better Feeling—Some Shares Advanced.

New York, December 11.—Stocks and bonds showed greater firmness today because of the proximity of the reopening of the local exchange for open dealings in stocks. Some shares were up 1 to 3 points and several of the more active bond and note issues manifested corresponding strength, the New York City three-year 6s being quoted at their top figures.

The evident success of the two new bond issues, aggregating $15,000,000, afforded the first real test of that market for new issues since the middle of the year. While more than ordinarily attractive in their interest yield, the wide response indicated the keenness of the investment inquiry, together with the ease of money.

Clearances of stocks through the exchange today were estimated at 60,000 shares, which was easily the largest overturn for any one day during the period of closure. The list of minimum prices issued by the exchange today for open trading was interesting in that it showed that allowance is to be made for dividends declared on listed stocks during the past four months. For instance, Reading, which closed at 140 in July and sold up to 142 7-8 today, was quoted at 136, the parity of its July price, plus two dividends of 2 per cent. This same ruling applied to other dividend issues.

The number of $15 or lower-priced stocks which are to be offered without restriction tomorrow and thereafter includes some three score railway and industrial issues. Preparations to meet the new order of business were completed today.

A further break was reported in the market for reichmarks, making the third consecutive day of declining tendency for these remittances. Exchange on London was stronger, with cables at 4.88 3-8, while francs were steady.

Banks were inclined to restrict their offerings of money, it was believed, because of tomorrow's market reopening. The cash loss of local banks to the sub-treasury was reported to be about $17,000,000, but rates for call and time loans were maintained.

In the industrial field, another advance in copper metal, based on the better demand, constituted the chief feature. General trade advices pointed to gradual betterment at leading centers of business.

BIG CROP FIGURES SENT COTTON DOWN

New York Closed at Net Decline of Six to Twenty-One Points—New Orleans Lost Six to Ten--Spot Easy

New York, December 11.—The selling movement inspired by yesterday's big crop figures was renewed in the cotton market today and prices made new low ground for the movement, with the close steady at a net decline of 6 to 21 points.

Private cables reported considerable calling by spinners in the English market, and Liverpool did not fully meet yesterday's local decline, but after opening steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points, prices here quickly weakened. December notices, estimated at about 4,000 bales, were reported in circulation, and evidently caused liquidation, while there also appeared to be some fresh selling of the near months, presumably against cotton previously held here as an investment or to be shipped here from the south. The weakness of the near positions helped to unsettle the general list and trading was more active during the morning than at any previous time since the reopening of the market. At a net loss of about 23 points on December and of 6 to 16 points on later months, the selling became less active, but demand also tapered off and the market was comparatively quiet later in the day. The close was steadied by covering, but within a point or two of the lowest.

It is reported that great difficulty is still being experienced in securing enough insurance to cover the risks on both hulls and cargoes in the case of vessels sailing for Germany, and that a vessel which recently cleared from a southern port for Bremen has put into Boston.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands 7.25; gulf 7.50. Sales 200.

Decline in New Orleans.

New Orleans, December 11.—Cotton futures lost 6 to 10 points as the result of today's trading, closing at practically the lowest. January sold as low as 6.87. Moderate liquidation of long cotton, together with hedge selling and speculative short selling put the market lower in the morning and later the softness of southern spot markets completed the work. Bears called attention to Dallas, where middling was quoted at 6 9-16 on sales of 12,673 bales. The fall of 1-4 of a cent in spots at Augusta also attracted notice.

A steadying influence was the export movement which for the week was 264,798 bales, the largest week's shipments to foreign countries since the outbreak of the war. Exports thus far this season now amount to 1,740,678 bales, with spot traders predicting that the 2,000,000 mark will be passed next week.

Locally spots were quoted easy at 7c for middling, a loss of 1-8, compared with yesterday's market. The total stock here now amounts to 282,114 bales and some of the cotton appeared to be pressed for sale today.

Spot cotton easy; sales on the spot 275 bales; to arrive 2,750; good ordinary 5 1-2; strict good ordinary 6; low middling 6 1-2; strict low middling 63-4; middling 7; strict middling 7 1-4; good middling 7 5-8; strict good middling 8; receipts 7,596; stock 282,114.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON THE COTTON MARKET

New York, December 11.—(Special.)—Cables this morning were rather better than due and private dispatches reported a good deal of calling on the part of spinners, who appear to be willing to take a portion of their supplies on the basis of 4d. The market also reflected the news of the naval victory in the south Atlantic, which would seem to indicate the increasing security of the communications between Manchester and its eastern markets. The market here was still under the influence of the large government estimate and the somewhat easier southern markets, prices declining some 10 points from yesterday's close. On the decline, there was buying from both New Orleans and Liverpool and a further absorption of cotton by investors attracted by the lower range of prices. Business was rather more active and, under the circumstances, the market displayed distinct powers of resistance, except in the December delivery, in which at one time there was considerable liquidation, apparently on southern orders. HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, December 11.—(Special.)—The market today met with increased southern selling, which nad the effect of lowering prices about 10 points. At the decline, however, a good class of buying absorbed offerings and steadied the tone.

The circulation of about 5,000 December notices brought about liquidation in that position and its weakness induced local selling in the later months. For the greater part of the first hour Liverpool held quite steady and reported spinners as calling considerable cotton. This, to say the least, is very encouraging, as consumption is now the all-important factor to those holding cotton.

LIST OF THE STOCKS THAT CAN BE TRADED

Restricted and Unrestricted Issues—Minimum Prices of Restricted Stocks.

New York, December 11.—After 111 business days of inactivity due to the European war, the New York stock exchange will reopen tomorrow for limited dealings in stocks.

The financial district was distinctly encouraged today by the prospect of a return, even though partial, to the established order of things, and all preparations to meet the new situation were perfected, including re-employment of many clerks and messengers who had been without positions during the long period of idleness. That the reopening will be attended by a revival of public interest has been indicated by the many queries and messages received during the last few days by brokers from all sections of the country.

To prevent heavy or prearranged liquidation open stock dealings will be limited to 182 railroad, industrial, utility and mining shares out of the total of about 580 listed on the exchange. The abbreviated list will include some three score stocks of various kinds, selling at or under $15, on which no restrictions of any kind will be imposed. All other stocks will have to be bought strictly for cash or "regular way," which is expected to put a check on speculative or marginal operations.

Among the stocks that will not appear on the open list and which will continue to be bought or sold in a semi-private way, are a number of the so-called internationals, including Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, Illinois Central, United States Steel and Anaconda Mining. The principal reasons for the omissions of these stocks is that they are held largely abroad, Canadian Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio, especially being favorites of the Berlin market.

Although assurances have been received by local international bankers that there is no danger of heavy selling of these stocks, exchange authorities deemed it the safest course to keep them out of the open market.

That the condition of the international list has improved appreciably is shown, however, in the latest list of minimum prices quoted by the exchange. These are on the basis of July 30 quotations, but in a number of important instances actual sales made today were 2 to 5 points above that level.

The new minimum prices follow: American Agricultural Chemical, 48; Anaconda, 24; Atlantic Coast Line, 112; Baltimore and Ohio, 67; Baltimore and Ohio preferred, 69; Canadian Pacific, 153; Chesapeake and Ohio, 40; Chino Copper, 31; Chicago and Northwestern, 122; Colorado Fuel, 20; Delaware and Hudson, 135; Illinois Central, 102; La-Clede Gas, 82; Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie, 100; New York Central, 78; Pittsburg, Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis, 64; Pressed Steel Car, 32; Pullman, 150; Southern Pacific, 81; Union Pacific, 111; Union Pacific preferred, 76; United States Steel, 48; United States Steel preferred, 102; United States Realty, 51; Virginia-Carolina Chemical, 20.

FREEZING WEATHER ADVANCED WHEAT

However, There Was Selling and the Market Closed Weak at Shade to One-Quarter Cent Higher.

Chicago, December 11.—Misgivings about the effect of cold weather on unprotected fields tended to make wheat higher. There was a good deal of selling on the bulge, however, and the market closed easy at a shade to 1-4c above last night. Corn finished unchanged to 1-16 up, oats unchanged to 1-4@3-8 advance and provisions dearer by a shade to 5c.

Smallness of receipts northwest appeared to give an added advantage to wheat bills and so did reports of unusual demand for wheat in Greece, Italy and Sweden. Support dwindled during the last half of the day, when early buyers tried to realize. There also was a new awakening of short sellers.

Corn averaged a little higher, owing to prospect of sharper feeding demand on account of winter weather.

Oats hardened with other grains.

Large arrivals of hogs had only a brief influence on provisions.

Coffee.

New York, December 11.—The market for coffee was easier today under realizing by recent buyers and some selling which seemed to come from New Orleans trade sources. After opening at a decline of 2 to 13 points the market steadied slightly on reports of continued firmness in Brazil, but offerings increased later in the day and the close was at a net loss of 13 to 22 points. Sales 18,750 bags.

The spot market was steady at 7½ for Rio sevens and 10¼ for Santos fours. Cost and freight offers were reported about unchanged.

The Brazilian cables reported Rio 150 reis higher at 4$225; Santos 100 reis higher at 4$800; Rio exchange 1-16d higher. Brazilian port receipts 76,000; Jundiahy 40,000. Futures in New York ranged as follows:

Ribs $9.12@9.87.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, December 11.—Cotton seed oil was higher on scattered covering by those who sold on yesterday's cotton report, together with support from refiners and local buying on the lard firmness. Crude markets on the other hand were a shade easier. Final prices were 5 to 10 points net higher. Sales, 12,300 barrels. The market closed steady. Spot, 5.80@5.95. Futures ranged as follows:

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The reawakening of the Atlanta real estate market was signally marked on Friday by a big boosters' meeting of the Atlanta Real Estate board and by the announcement of two large real estate deals involving several hundred thousand dollars' worth of property.

There were also a number of smaller deals announced.

The Realty Board Meeting.

The Atlanta Real Estate board held its first meeting and luncheon since the outbreak of the war, at the Winecoff hotel Friday afternoon, and it was one of the most largely attended and most optimistic meetings that the board has ever held. Nearly 100 of the leading realty men of the city were present, and it was declared that there is every indication that the realty business in Atlanta is verging on a period of increased activity.

This opinion certainly seems borne out by the day's announcement, and several other important announcements which will be ready within the next ten days.

Harris G. White, president of the board, presided.

Wants Rents Held Down.

Mr. White introduced S. B. Turman, who, with other realty men, had been waited upon by a committee from the retail merchants asking that the realty agents exert their influence to see that rents are held as reasonable as possible for a while in order to allow business to recover as much as possible from the effects of the depression following the war.

Mr. Turman explined that high rents—not extortionate, but such rents as property would command in normal times—had been the cause of several concerns having to abandon business, according to the statement of the retail men. It is to avoid a repetition of this that they are asking landlords to be as reasonable as possible for the period of some months or a year.

The Matter of Ethics.

Charles P. Glover, former president of the board, launched a general discussion of the question of ethics in the real estate business. Mr. Glover declared that the unusual conditions had led some agents to pursue courses in making deals which might not be considered altogether ethical, and he warned them against such actions. He suggested that as a preventive measure the board adopt rules of ethics to which its members should adhere, thus establishing a standard of ethics for the Atlanta realty profession.

A number of agents joined in the discussion and supported Mr. Glover.

The matter of off-hand appraisement of property was strongly discountenanced.

Kiser Boosts a Spell.

It remained for M. C. Kiser to set the real optimistic stuff going. When Mr. Kiser was called upon he revealed oratorical powers which drew forth comments of admiration. Mr. Kiser declared himself a booster and optimist from the village where those terms originated, and before he got done talking he proved it.

Daves Building Is Sold.

The Smith & Ewing agency has sold for Mrs. J. T. Daves to a client the southwest corner of Collins street and the Georgia railroad, a five-story business building, on a lot 139x100, for a consideration of $120,000. The purchaser gave in part payment a parcel on the north side of North avenue, between the Peachtrees, 77x140, which was valued at $40,000; a triangular-shaped parcel at the junction of Cain and Luckie streets, valued at $15,000, and considerable cash.

Swift Apartments Sold.

The same agency has sold for Mackle & Swift to the S. H. Phelan company, composed of the heirs of the Phelan estate, the Swift apartments, a three-story, 18-apartment, brick building, at the southwest corner of Juniper and Third streets, for a consideration of $100,000. The purchasers gave in part payment No. 51 Luckie street, a dwelling adjoining the corner of Cone, on a lot 40x100, which was valued at $40,000, and also Nos. 89-91-93 Yonge street, near Edgewood avenue, which consists of tenant houses on a lot 115x150. This parcel was valued at $10,000.

Small Sales.

E. L. Harling has made the following sales:

For F. J. Paxon, to Mrs. Irene Cameron and M. C. Forbes, No. 353 Capitol avenue, a 9-room residence, on a lot 50x200, for $6,250.

For Mrs. H. O. Varnedoe to a client, No. 15 Irene street, a 7-room cottage, on a lot 50x140, for $2,750.

PLANNING TO MOTORIZE CITY FIRE EQUIPMENT

Mayor Estimates That $75,000 Will Give the Department a Good Start.

Mayor James G. Woodward said Friday afternoon that he will urge the board of firemasters, at its meeting next Thursday, to begin immediate plans for motorizing fire equipment now located in the most central parts of the city.

The mayor has estimated that $75 000 in January will give the fire department a good start. It is the aim of the mayor and members of the fire board to eventually make every piece of fire apparatus in the city a motor engine.

Chief W. B. Cummings has been working on a similar plan for several months, and he has made an estimate showing that the entire department can be motorized within a few months for about $250,000. The chief figures that the economy which will result in two years will more than offset the original cost of making engines, hose wagons and trucks motor-driven vehicles.

Will Cut Down Payroll.

The change will have the effect of not only doing away with the cost of maintaining horses, but it will also cut down the fire department payroll to an appreciable extent. Some of the engine companies are now operating with eleven men—three on the engine and eight on the hose cart. Chief Cummings says that with a motor engine the crews can be reduced to eight men.

Another innovation in the department which the board will be asked to put into effect immediately is the double platoon system. A committee representing the rank and file of the fire department, headed by Captain Tas Short, of engine company No. 2, appeared before the board Friday and urged that the double platoon system be put into effect.

Under the present system the men are on duty twenty-four hours each day, and occasionally they are allowed a holiday. Many of the men of the department are married, and except when they have a day off they are kept from their families. Under the double platoon system, the men would be divided into two platoons, each to work twelve hours. This arrangement will allow the men to divide their time with their families and the department.

New Engine in Eighth.

The board Friday authorized Chief Cummings to make shifts in crews at other houses to supply a sufficient number of men to man the new engine recently installed in the eighth ward. The chief told the board that the crew can be installed immediately without additional funds.

The new engine house was completed several months ago and the engine purchased. It is the latest type of auto engine. Since the purchase of the engine Councilmen Humphrey and Reynolds have been diligently at work to get the crew installed in order to give the ward protection.

The board has authorized Chief Cummings to deal with those men of the department who refuse to pay their bills, and suggested that hereafter when accounts against the men are placed in the hands of the chief that he investigate, and whenever he finds a man in the department who refuses to pay his bills, that the matter then be placed in the hands of the board.

CALLS FARM CREDITS NATION'S BIG PROBLEM

W. C. Brown Says Farmer Pays Twice the Interest He Should.

St. Joseph, Mo., December 11.—Farm wealth of the United States, estimated at $40,000,000,000, should be the basis on which the prosperity of the country rests permanently, yet there is no adequate law under which to finance the farm. That was the condition described here today at the Interstate Agricultural Congress by W. C. Brown, former president of the New York Central railroad.

"The establishment of farm credits is one of the most important questions now before the nation," Mr. Brown said. "The farmer is paying twice the interest he should. Long-time loans at a low rate would enable the farmer to properly finance his work, and it is this financing upon which depends to large degree the prosperity of the country."

AT THE THEATERS

"The Old Homestead."

(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon a popular matinee of "The Old Homestead" will be given at the Atlanta with the best seats at 50 cents. This play has a wonderful hold on the public and is given by a very fine company this season—a company which pleases everyone. It is a play that can be seen and enjoyed time after time for its humor and homeliness and it does good for the public. The engagement at the Atlanta will end tonight following the matinee.

Maude Adams.

(At the Atlanta.)

There are several scenes in "The Legend of Leonora," in which Maude Adams is to be seen at the Atlanta Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with a Wednesday matinee that have much delightful humor. One of them comes in the opening act at a dinner given to a social lion. The man is told that he is to meet seven women and their characteristics are described to him. While he is alone in comes Leonora. The man endeavors in a blundering, shy way to learn which of the seven she really is and finds that she is all seven rolled into one. She is the only woman that he meets. A very delightful play, "The Ladies' Shakespeare," is to follow, Miss Adams' bill being a double one. Seats are now on sale.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Matinee and night performances today end the engagement of "Neptune's Garden of Living Statues," and the other acts that have made a good entertainment at the busy theater since last Monday. Denny and Morrison, a very clever musical novelty, was substituted last night for Juliet?, who left the bill, and these entertainers will be seen at both performances today. Next week the headliner will be Liane Carrera, Anna Held's daughter, who will be assisted by Tyler Brooke and a sextette of pretty girls in a musical comedy. In addition to the feature Harry Richards and Bessie Kyle, very popular with local theater goers, will be seen in their new success, and Mallia and Bart in a unique comedy. "The Baggage Smashers" will be additional features. Nonette, the violinist, who sings, is on the bill and her great many admirers will give her a hearty welcome, and Whipple, Houston and company, in their comedy offering, "Spooks," will contribute to the entertaining.

Emma Bunting.

(At the Lyric.)

Little Emma Bunting concludes the first week of her two week's engagement at the Lyric with matinee and night performances today. It has been a wonderful week for the wonderful star. It seems that all of her host of admirers have tried to force their way into the cosy Lyric during the week, and for today there is an advance sale that means the exhibition of the S. R. O. sign at the two performances. "What Happened to Mary" is one of the cleverest productions in which Miss Bunting has appeared. For next week, with matinee on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons, Miss Bunting will present her original creation, "Tess of the Storm Country." This is the play written for the Atlanta favorite by Rupert Hughes. It was given its first performance at the Lyric some while ago, and under the personal direction of the author.

AID FOR NEGRO CHILDREN WILL BE SOLICITED

There will be a union meeting held in the Cosmopolitan A. M. E. church, of which Rev. J. S. Perry is pastor, Sunday, December 13, at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the City Allen Endeavor leagues of the A. M. E. church and Holmes institute.

The principal address will be made by B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes institute, who will discuss the condition of the poor children of the city. The object of the organization is to raise a Christmas fund for them. I. J. Jones, president of the City Union leagues of the A. M. E. churches, will preside, and will deliver his farewell address for this year. Speeches will be made by Rev. Horace Williams, Professor G. S. Norman, C. L. Harper, J. W. Wheeler, D. L. Dickerson, J. S. Beadles, Horace Williams, Jr., and others. Music will be furnished by Union leagues and the students of the Holmes institute. A collection will be taken for the poor.

SUIT AGAINST WINECOFF WON BY W. L. STODDARD

W. L. Stoddard, architect of the Winecoff hotel and other large buildings in Atlanta, was, on Friday, awarded a verdict for the payment of $8,100 architect's fees and $800 interest thereon in his suit against W. F. Winecoff, builder of the hotel, for $8,300 as architect's fees. The case has been in progress for two weeks in Judge Reed's division of Fulton superior court. Mr. Stoddard was represented by Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman. Mr. Winecoff was represented by Attorneys Ellis and Mayson.

FULTON COTTON MILLS THREATENED BY BLAZE

The prompt arrival of the fire department probably saved the Fulton Bag and Cotton mills from burning to the ground last night about 9 o'clock, when a threatening blaze began in a pile of waste cotton against the south side of the plant. The damage was small.

Egg Prices Soar.

Chicago, December 11.—Prices of fresh eggs advanced 4 cents a dozen in the Chicago market yesterday, one of the most sensational upturns in this market in recent years. Scarcity of newly laid eggs was given as one of the causes for the advance, and another was that eastern buyers made unusually heavy purchases.

HICKS' YARD IS RAIDED AND HIS GOAT STOLEN

Harry L. Schlesinger Reports to Police the Loss of Some Fine Chickens.

"A burglar's got my angora," was the substance of a report received at police station Friday morning of a burglary at the home of C. H. Hicks, of 57 Powell street, when some one entered his yard and took his goat.

A number of fine Rhode Island Reds were stolen during Thursday night from the barnyard of Harry L. Schlesinger, of 375 West Peachtree street.

Mr. Schlesinger woke up Friday morning to find that burglars had picked his chicken house clean. Fifteen fine Rhode Island hens, Plymouth Rocks and Leghorns, were missing.

Among the others visited by burglars during Thursday night, according to reports received at police headquarters, were C. C. Edwards, of 238 Oak street, where they got two pistols and a savings bank, containing $6, and Miss Marian Rosenbert, of 439 Washington street, where they got a gold watch.

The chicken coop of W. B. Stephens, of 105 Whitehall street, was robbed of four hens.

Alleged Collector Sought.

A young white man, in the guise of a collector, entered No. 5 Crew street Friday afternoon and, it is charged, stole $40. Detectives Moon and Patrick are hot on his trail and hope to land him soon.

MARKETS

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, December 11.—The government's estimate, indicating the largest cotton crop in the history of trade, was followed by lower prices in the market this week. The official forecast of 15,966,000 bales, excluding linters, was several hundred thousand bales above average expectations which had been reduced somewhat by comparatively light ginning returns for the period between November 14 and December 1. This falling off in ginning operations had led some to suppose that fully the average percentage of the crop had been ginned before the beginning of this month, but according to the government's estimate, unless it is a question of average bale weights, the proportion ginned to December 1 this year does not seem to have been over 32, comparing with 35.6 the average for the three preceding years.

The comparatively small ginning for the last half of November is, therefore, attributed to unfavorable weather conditions and the estimate was generally construed as pointing to a probable total growth including linters of from 16,600,000 to 17,000,000 bales or fully half a million bales in excess of the previous record. Such figures naturally suggested a large surplus to be carried forward into next season, but ideas of trade takings have increased somewhat recently and the estimate has exerted much less influence at prices believed to be already under the average cost of production.

The talk around the ring, however, has shown a more bearish average of sentiment, owing to apprehensions that the big figures would shake the determination of southern holders and lead to increased offerings, while at the same time they would encourage buyers in a policy of procrastination. Trading has been more active on the decline of about $2.50 to $3 per bale from the recent high level and while there has been moderate selling of near months the market has received support on a scale down from trade interests and investors.

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEWED BY MERCANTILE AGENCY

New York, December 11.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say that there is improvement in trade is made clear in the reports from all parts of the country, though the developing is slow and irregular and the gains already attained inspire confidence in further expansion, with the advent of the New Year. The prevailing optimism is strengthened by easier money and the noticeable improvement in the financial position; also by the fact that while the present volume of business is much less than last year, the corner has been turned and the trend is now toward better conditions.

Bank clearings for the week were $2,377,722,159, against $2,767,437,724 in the same week last year and $3,265,556,619 in 1912.

Failures in the United States during the week numbered 461 against 420 last year; in Canada 79 against 46 last year.

Wheat exports were 7,034,500 bushels against 5,049,683 last year.

TRADING IN FUTURES FOR SUGAR NEXT WEEK

New York, December 11.—Trading in sugar futures on the New York coffee exchange will be resumed Wednesday, December 16, the board of managers announced today. The market will open at 11 o'clock and will close at 2:45. February will be the first month traded in. Contracts will be in lots of fifty tons (long ton basis). Cuba centrifugal 96 test, and quotations will be in cents and decimals of a cent per pound.

Business Losses caused by an imperfect accounting system

Such losses cost many businesses each year far more than would the services of a qualified Certified Public Accountant.

As evidence of this statement, few, if any, of those firms who have employed this service ever go back to previous systems.

They employ the service year after year because it continues to be profitable.
